Delia strikes crops

GALVESTON, Tex. (UPI) — Damages to $200 million worth of crops exposed to the rain and winds of Tropical Storm Delia could go higher unless the weather dries out the Texas and Louisiana Gulf coasts, agricultural experts said Friday.

"Only when the fields dry out can the farmers determine how much can be recovered," said Texas Agriculture Commissioner John White. "Rice, cotton and soybeans were in the path of the storm.

"Delia's double thrust into the upper Gulf coast left damage to crops that were valued at over $200 million, but complete losses can't be determined for another week or 10 days."

White said Delia's first strike at the coast Tuesday affected the rice crop, which was about half harvested.

"The remaining 50 per cent is still a big question mark, especially after Delia came back in Thursday," White said. "The threat to the crops is a serious one, but Delia was also a blow to the morale of farmers who stood a good chance of getting higher prices this year."

Rice was selling for about $13 per hundred pounds when Delia struck. Farmers get about 4,800 pounds from an acre of rice. In Louisiana, more than 619,000 acres of rice were planted this year with only 25 per cent harvested when Delia struck.

Forest fires rage

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Two forest fires, one set by an arsonist, charred wilderness areas in Northern California Friday in the first outbreaks since last month.

One blaze roared through a picturesque hillside in Big Basin State Park 75 miles south of here on the coast. Some 150 fire fighters and air tankers fought the rushing flames for 3½ hours before bringing them under control.

The other scorched 130 acres of timber and slash in the rugged Finley Creek area 150 miles south of the Oregon border. Wind gusting at about 30 miles per hour hampered fire-fighting efforts.

The California Division of Forestry said the Big Basin fire was set by an arsonist. Investigators were sent to the scene.

The Finley Creek fire, in Humboldt County, swept through brush, slash and timber.

There were no structures in the two areas. The location of the Big Basin fire is popular with hikers and campers. But no one was hurt in the blaze.

Air tankers were used in both fires to bomb the flames with fire retardants.

These were the first two big fires to have broken out in the West since about three weeks ago when more than 200,000 acres of forest, brush and range land were burned in late summer fires.

Weather

Low clouds and local fog through early morning hours otherwise fair Saturday and Sunday, slightly warmer Sunday. A high temperature of up to 84 predicted for today. The Air Pollution Control District predicts only light smog throughout the weekend.

Ceiling on beef ends Sunday; prices to rise

United Press Telephoto

UNBELIEVABLE SIGNS

Students in Detroit, Mich. on Friday took to the streets and held up these incredible signs. Students were protesting the teacher strike which has lengthened their vacations and threatens to continue for some time. At present some 35 districts in Michigan have been struck, affecting 260,000 students.

Economic moves taken by Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The controversial beef price ceilings will be removed at midnight Sunday —two days ahead of schedule, the Cost of Living Council announced Friday. A top administration farm economist predicted price increases but said they might be limited.

The action means beef prices, subject to control since late March, will assume the same status as other foods under Phase IV of the administration's anti-inflation program and thus be free to reflect higher costs from the packing house to the grocery shelf. But sellers will have to scale back their prices if costs decline.

The Cost of Living Council's decision to lift the beef price ceilings, which were kept on when President Nixon ended the freeze on all other foods July 18, came a few hours after the government reported dramatic increases in wholesale prices for animal feeds during August. Those increases were viewed as a strong indication that beef prices could climb markedly once the ceilings were removed, but officials stressed that both grain and cattle prices have declined sharply since the August index figures were compiled three weeks ago.

Don Paarlberg, director of economics for the Agriculture Department, said post-freeze jumps in retail beef prices might not be as great as some have feared.

"This has got to be conjectural," Paarlberg said. "But we've had some indication already of consumer resistance (to high meat prices) and with this mood in the market and a larger supply coming in, we might not get all that much of an increase in prices."

John T. Dunlop, director of the Cost of Living Council, said the surprise decision was taken mainly to prevent cattlemen from holding their herds back from slaughter in the final days of the control period in a bid to gain higher prices later.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Nixon administration announced a barrage of economic moves Friday, and this is what they mean to the American consumer:

—Beef prices are going up, but economists don't know how high.

—Car prices are going up, but not as much as auto makers said they wanted.

— Many gasoline stations around the country will be lowering their prices about a penny a gallon, beginning today. Some may close because of a profit squeeze.

Burts given five-years to-life terms in prison

SAN BERNARDINO — Benton Douglas Burt, 31, and Andrea Holman Burt, 19, a San Francisco Bay couple convicted of second-degree murder in the Oct. 6, 1972 ambush-slaying of a Chino prison guard, were given five years to life prison terms Friday.

Superior Court Judge Thomas M. Haldorsen handed down the maximum sentences after denying their motion for a new trial.

The pair was convicted July 18 of second-degree murder, assault with a deadly weapon and rescue of a prisoner in connection with the escape of California Institution for Men inmate Ronald Wayne Beaty.

Beaty was being taken to San Bernardino from CIM for a court hearing when he was rescued by a number of persons in two cars who ambushed his two guards on Edison Avenue west of Euclid Avenue.

CIM Correctional Officer Jesus Sanchez was shot to death in the ambush and guard George Fitzgerald wounded.

Burt will be taken to CIM, and his wife to the women's prison in Frontera.

Sentencing had been set for last Tuesday, but it was delayed when Judge Haldorsen said he wanted to consider new evidence raised during the testimony in a hearing that day.

In the defense motion for a new trail, Attorney Charles Garry argued that the Burts had not received a fair trail because of jury misconduct and misconduct by Deputy Dist. Atty. Joe Canty.

U.S. captures Soviet vessel in damage suit

WOODS HOLE, Mass. (UPI) —The United States Friday seized a Soviet research vessel in connection with a $97,000 damage suit brought by an American lobster firm.

U.S. Marshal Richard Bigelow boarded the Belogorsk when it arrived here to take on a pilot. He handed a warrant to Capt. Vladimir Zuev and announced the seizure.

Neither Zuev nor the Soviet government had any immediate reaction.

The ship was ordered seized in connection with a civil suit filed by the Deep Ocean Products Co., of Boston, which claimed it was entitled to damages because its lobster traplines were cut by Soviet vessels in 1971 and restitution never was made.

The Belogorsk was not involved in the line cutting incident, sources here said, but was in the vicinity to participate in a survey of ground fish population and thus became the target of the legal action.

The Belogorsk was scheduled to depart Monday to join the National Marine Fisheries ship Albatross in further research.

An official of the research project said Friday he expected the two ships would pursue their mission as scheduled Monday, but the U.S. marshal's office said it had no information that might lead to a change in policy regarding the Russian craft. "We will continue to hold it," a spokesman said,

Arabs threaten to kill 5 Saudi Arabians 1-by-1

KUWAIT (UPI) —Kuwait broke off negotiations with Arab guerrillas holding Saudi Arabian diplomat hostages aboard an airliner Friday after reporting the terrorists lied when they said they had shot one of their captives.

An unscheduled Saudi Arabian aircraft arrived in Kuwait amid unconfirmed reports it might take the guerrillas and their hostages to Syria.

The commandos, who want Jordan to free a jailed terrorist leader, were holding five diplomats captive for the third day following a 27-hour siege at the Saudi Arabian Embassy in Paris and a flight through the Middle East.

The guerrillas issued several threats Friday that they would kill the hostages one by one if their demands were not met. At one point they said they would hurl them out of their jetliner over Saudi Arabia.

The terrorists, who were aboard a Kuwait Airlines Boeing 707, told the Kuwait airport control tower, where an emergency cabinet meeting was held almost all day, that the first secretary of the Saudi embassy in Paris had been shot aboard the plane and was "bleeding profusely," airport officials said.

The guerrillas asked for an ambulance to be sent to the plane to pick up the allegedly injured man. But when it was discovered that the Saudi diplomat was not injured, the ministers cut off negotiations with the guerrillas, according to the officials.

The officials did not explain how they knew the alleged shooting was a hoax.

Ehrlichman issues plea of innocent to charges

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —John Ehrlichman, former chief White House domestic affairs advisor, pleaded innocent Friday to charges of burglary and perjury.

Ehrlichman surrendered himself in custody before Los Angeles Superior Court Judge James G. Kolts and was released on his own recognizance without having to post bail.

Standing with his hands behind his back and shifting balance on his feet, Ehrlichman listened to the charges involving him in the burglary of the office of the psychiatrist of Pentagon Papers defendant Daniel Ellsberg.

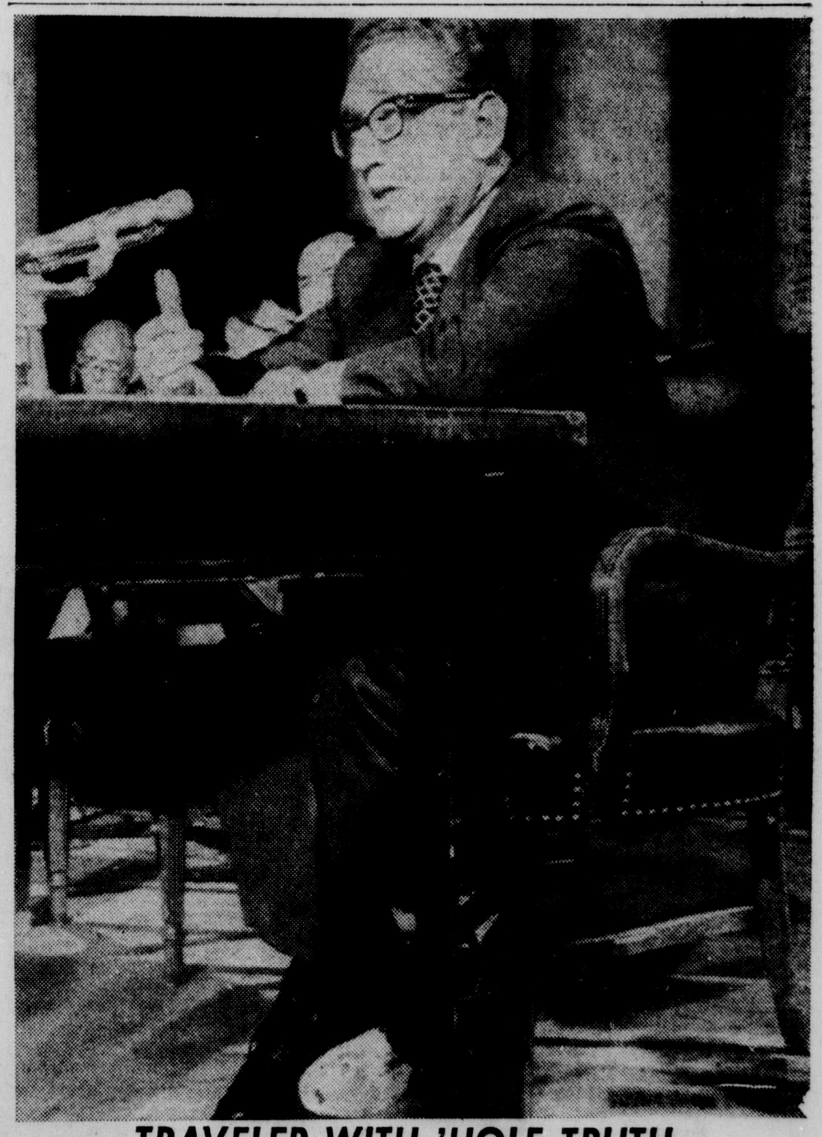

Ehrlichman also was charged with lying under oath when he appeared before the County Grand Jury last June and told them that he had no foreknowledge of the break-in to secure a "psychiatric profile" of Ellsberg, whose case was thrown out of federal court largely on the basis of government misconduct.

Ehrlichman was the third of the "Watergate West" defendants to enter an innocent plea and be released without bail pending a trial-setting date scheduled for Sept. 20.

Egil "Bud" Krogh and David Young, other former White House aides, appeared previously this week and entered pleas of innocent.

Along with H. R. Haldeman, Ehrlichman was one of the closest lieutenants to President Nixon until both of them resigned their jobs under the heat of the Watergate investigation. Haldeman was the White House chief of staff.

Ehrlichman spoke only a few words during his court appearance. He acknowledged that he understood his constitutional rights and then when asked by a deputy district attorney how he wished to plead, Ehrlichman turned briefly to his Los Angeles attorney, Joseph Ball, and then said quietly, "Not guilty."

TRAVELER WITH 'HOLE TRUTH

The much-traveled Henry A. Kissinger displays a hole in his shoe as he testifies before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Friday on his nomination to be secretary of state. Senators, however, threatened to delay the confirmation until they receive FBI wiretapping reports by White House aides.

Mother, 19, cleared of killing daughter

ONTARIO — A murder charge was dropped Friday in West Valley Municipal Court against a Fontana woman whose 10-month-old baby daughter died of massive head injuries March 9.

Mrs. Francine Edith Dekker, 19, of 7571 Juniper St., Fontana, was arrested on the murder charge in July after her boyfriend, William Lattimer Wheeler, 27, also of Fontana, was convicted of second degree murder by a West Valley Superior Court jury in the death of infant Virginia Ann Dekker.

Mrs. Dekker admitted writing a letter that contained a purported confession after Wheeler was convicted of murdering her daughter in an Ontario apartment.

The letter was found by Wheeler while he was out on bail awaiting sentencing.

The unmailed letter was address to Dept. District Atty. William Parker, who acted as prosecutor in the Wheeler trial.

Mrs. Dekker appeared before Municipal Court Judge Kenneth Ziebarth Friday morning.

A motion for a new trial for Wheeler had been submitted to Superior Court Judge James Cunningham by John Whyte, Wheeler's attorney.

Mrs. Dekker in her letter wrote she believed Wheeler to be innocent "because Mr. Wheeler was good to my daughter . . . I don't think he could have hurt my child."

She stated in the letter that she became angry at her daughter, picked the baby up and threw her on the floor.

However, in Wheeler's trial, Mrs. Dekker testified she was at a laundromat while Wheeler was tending the baby. She said when she returned to the apartment, the baby seemed feverish and was having difficulty breathing.

Whyte, questioning Mrs. Dekker, had her admit she wrote the letter of confession "freely and voluntarily" a few days after Wheeler was convicted.

Ervin says Nixon defense 'rubbish'

GREENSBORO, N.C. (UPI) —Sen. Sam Ervin, D-N.C., said Friday night if President Nixon does not release the controversial Watergate tapes then his oath to support the Constitution "is a meaningless mockery."

Ervin labeled as "intellectual rubbish" Nixon's argument that to turn over the tapes would seriously impair his capacity and that of his successors to discharge the duties of the presidency.

Ervin said the constitution declares the President shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed.

Seven U.S. warships destroyed off Santa Barbara

Great sea disaster of 50 years ago recalled

By MARK JONES

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI) —Fifty years ago today the Navy's worst peacetime disaster brought destruction to seven warships in as many minutes. The loss, just north of here, was greater than all the American combat vessels sunk during World War I.

The so-called "Honda tragedy," named for a rocky point along the rugged central California coastline, produced a sensational court-martial during the 1920s. Today, only the rusted tops of the old ships poke above the surface of history, just off shore.

Modern scuba divers explore below the waves on weekends, scouting for a souvenir anchor or other memorabilia.

Otherwise the disaster remains just a historical footnote in Navy texts on "how not to navigate."

Moonless and dark

The night of Sept. 8, 1923, was moonless and dark as ink. Seven big destroyers—part of a fleet convoy steaming south to San Diego—blundered at top speed through dense fog and wrapped their hulls against a lethal black reef.

A half dozen cargo ships have met a similar fate before and since and it is no coincidence the razored reef beyond the cliffs at Honda and Point Arguello has been infamously known as the "graveyard" since the days of Spanish galleons.

That September night the pride of the Pacific fleet, some of the swiftest American destroyers, lay gashed and broken on the reef, spilling their crews into the sea from drunken angles in the fog.

Twenty-three sailors died—either trapped below deck or fighting the treachorous current to shore after abandoning ship.

Months later, in the glare of a controversial Navy court martial, both commanders of the flagship were convicted of "negligent" seamanship for leading one fourth of the convoy to its doom.

Quirk of nature

Both men, each a career officer, retired six years after the sensational court-martial, but not before vigorously protesting that the Honda tragedy was actually a quirk of nature.

They argued that strange, powerful currents, triggered the week before by the great 1923 Japanese earthquake, had thrown the flagship far off course and pushed the others to their fate.

What actually caused the disaster — faulty navigation, poor judgment or a quirk of nature—may be arguable to this day, but this much Navy records do tell:

The ill-fated ships, the morning of the disaster, lay at anchor in San Francisco Bay, waiting for the bulk of the slower convoy to leave port. Hours later, festooned with bright, ceremonial flags, the destroyers steamed out the Golden Gate and out to sea. The sky was clear and rediant; a light breeze skidded over the ocean surface.

Just two hours later, the coast thickened with a grey mist and it seemed to be getting worse.

Fourteen destroyers, sailing in a loose "follow the leader" formation, lagged behind the flagship Delphy, commanded by a brilliant Naval Academy graduate, Capt. Edward Watson, along with the ship's skipper, Lt. Cmdr. Donald Hunter.

Their orders, handed down by the fleet admiral, were unquestionably simple: "Speed down the coast at 20 knots." "An endurance drill," the admiral said.

The fateful order was never questioned, neither by the Delphy nor the commanders of the 13 other ships.

By late afternoon the ships entered the northern rim of Santa Barbara Channel, never slackening their speed despite dense fog pockets growing off the coast. Constant shore-based navigation reports crackled over the "wireless" and both Watson and Hunter relied on them.

But between 6 and 10 p.m., the Delphy miscalculated its position and radioed to shore what they thought it was. Watson and Hunter felt they had just rounded Point Arguello, just a mile from the dangerous "graveyard" reef.

And both Delphy skippers breathed relief, confidant they had pushed safely south of the point with much water beneath them.

But 13 other ship's captains, still steaming at top speed behind the Delphy, never disputed the flagship's radioed position—even though it was shown later that it disagreed widely with their own calculations.

The convoy's 20-knot speed through the fog never slowed.

Thinking they had rounded Arguello, Watson and Hunter turned hard to port, following what they thought to be the coast's gentle contour.

Seconds later, the big ship shuddered with a terrible grating noise, finally lurching to a full stop as it collided with the same jagged reef which destroyed many a ship since the 16th century.

Darkness. Silence.

Both Delphy commanders mistakenly thought they somehow had run aground on San Miguel Island, many miles seaward, so they issued their fateful emergency order to the others: Steer hard to the left.

Like circus elephants fastened to one another, the giant grey warships sailed blindly onto the fogbound rocks lurking below the water, ramming one another or ripping open their hulls as though they were built of aluminum foil.

Ship sirens, agonized shouts from the sailors and the roaring crash of waves against the beached ships created a surreal scene. Amidst it all the ships' radio officers remained at their posts and with emergency dispatches managed to ward off the remaining seven destroyers.

Cholera toll reaches 22

ROME (UPI) —The toll in a cholera outbreak reached 22 Friday with the deaths of a 77-year-old woman and a 4-month-old girl in Naples from the deadly disease.

Italy's health minister promised action to correct the medical and hygienic shortcomings which he said caused the 11-day-old cholera outbreak.

"The country has reached such a degree of pollution that defense is urgently needed to keep man from destroying himself," said the minister, Luigi Gui.

"The cholera infection has

Nobel prize urged for Russ scientist

MOSCOW (UPI) — Three Soviet dissidents urged Friday that the Nobel Peace Prize be awarded to Andrei D. Sakharov, the nuclear physicist who is under attack here because of his criticism of the Soviet system.

The proposal was made in an open letter, made available to Western newsmen and signed by writers Vladimir Maximov and Alexander Galich and mathematician Igor Shafarevich.

Demos to appeal to 'middle' class

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Democratic party, still more than $3 million in debt from the 1972 elections, will appeal to "middle America" for financial support in its second nationally televisied telethon Sept. 15, it was announced Friday.

In a joint statement, nine prominent Senate Democrats said the telethon will stress that the only way to clean up "the corrupting influence" of big money is public campaign financing and more citizen participation in the political process.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., chairman of the Senate Democratic Campaign Committee, said the seven-hour, prime-time telecast "will appeal to the middle American."

Senate hopes to halt big cars for officials

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Senate refused Friday to appropriate $19 billion to operate nine government agencies unless officials are denied the use of 16 chauffeured limousines.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., floor manager of the appropriations bill, forced through an amendment to eliminate the limousines and their drivers. With overtime, the drivers are paid $14,000 to $17,000 annually, he said.

Governor says no amnesty for rioters

CHICAGO (UPI) — Gov. Daniel Walker said Friday there definitely will be no amnesty for the 270 inmates at Stateville Penitentiary who took over a cellblock and held 10 guards hostage for nine hours Thursday.

"The moment you grant amnesty, how in the world are you going to prevent these things from happening again?" Walker said at a news conference.

"I will continue a policy of firmness coupled with fairness, but let us not forget these are prisons and these men are criminals."

Douglas recovering

SEATTLE Wash. (UPI) — Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas was reported "recovering excellently" Friday from a bout with intestinal flu and was expected to be released from the hospital sometime during the weekend.

"He looks just fine to me and I think he will recover completely," said Dr. Robert Petersdorf, chief of medicine at the University of Washington Hospital.

Petersdorf said Douglas, 74, became "acutely ill" Thursday with vomiting and diarrhea near the end of a plane trip returning him from a three-week visit to the People's Republic of China.

Miss N.H. speaks out

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) —Miss New Hampshire, who was denounced by the Manchester Union Leader for publicly supporting gay liberation and the feminist movement, said Friday she is speaking for all freedom movements.

Michelle Arnett Cote, 22, said interviews at the Miss America pageant prompted her to speak out in opposition to discrimination against movements. Those opinions prompted a Union Leader editorial.

Obituary

Margaret G. Padilla

POMONA — Margaret G. Padilla of 1638 E. Kingsley St. died Thursday at the Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

She was born Oct. 31, 1903, in Murryetta, Calif., and had resided in Pomona for 15 years.

Survivors include a brother, George Golsh of Arizona; two sisters, Mrs. Martha Valdegela of Brawley and Mrs. Rose Gonzales of Los Angeles; three daughters, Mrs. Charlotte Berman of Los Angeles, Mrs. Flora Green of Montebello and Mrs. Barbara Brown of Utah; a son, Pete G. of Los Angeles; 14 grandchildren and 15 great grandchildren.

Rosary was recited Friday at the Blackman Mortuary Chapel. Requiem Mass will be celebrated today at 9 a.m. at Sacred Heart Catholic Church. The Rev. Joseph Kearney, pastor, will officiate. Burial will be in the Holy Cross Cemetery.

NO ONE INJURED A car driven by Grady Brown Jr., 26, of Long Beach, went off the San Bernardino Freeway west of the Central Avenue on-ramp in Montclair shortly after 12 noon Friday. Brown explained to a California Highway patrolman that one side of the hitch on the trailer he was towing came loose, and caused the car to whip back and forth and finally off the freeway.

'Get Ellsberg' conversation disclosed in Senate paper

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Former White House Special Counsel Charles W. Colson sounded out E. Howard Hunt Jr. in mid-1971 about "nailing" Pentagon Papers defendant Daniel Ellsberg, the Washington Star-News Friday quoted Senate documents as saying.

The newspaper said that according to a transcript of conversation held by the Senate Watergate committee, Colson suggested to Hunt there was "profit to us in nailing any one who would steal a secret document of the government and publish it . . ."

"Go down the line to nail the guy cold, yes," the transcript quoted Hunt, a former CIA operative later convicted as a leader of the Watergate bugging, as saying.

The Star-News said Colson turned the transcript of the conversation over to then White House chief of staff H. R. Haldeman. The talk was said to have taken place July 1, 1971, one day after the Supreme Court ruled that the Pentagon Papers on the origins of the Vietnam war could be published.

At Colson's recommendation, Hunt was hired as a White House consultant less than a week later. Hunt is one of four men, including former White House adviser John D. Ehrlichman, who were secretly indicted by a Los Angeles grand jury in connection with the break-in at the office of Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

In a cover memo, which the Star-News also obtained from sources on the Senate Watergate committee, Colson told Haldeman that "the more I think about Howard Hunt's background, politics, disposition and experience the more I think it would be worth your time to meet him."

In the conversation with Hunt, the transcript showed that Colson said the Pentagon Papers case "could go one of two ways. Ellsberg could be turned into a martyr of the new left —he probably will anyway —or it could become another Alger Hiss case where the guy is exposed, other people were operating with him, and this may be the way to carry it out.

Rev. Kurtz to give talk

POMONA — The Rev. Theodore Kurtz will speak Sunday at 3 p.m. at the meeting of the Prince Hall Masons of Silvermoon Lodge 105 at the Metropolitan Baptist Church.

E. A. Ferguson, past master, will present the history of Prince Hall, the first grand master of the organization.

Members of the Silver Star Chapter 89 and the newly formed Knights of Pytharagus will attend the meeting.

Agnew probe limit planned

BALTIMORE (UPI) —Lawyers for Vice President Spiro T. Agnew are considering possible court action aimed at limiting the investigation of Agnew by federal prosecutors, the Baltimore Sun said Friday.

In a report from its Washington bureau, the paper said it had been told by Judah Best, one of the vice president's lawyers, that he may ask for a court injunction to cut off news leaks about the probe into charges that Maryland officials took kickbacks from consulting firms while Agnew was governor.

Change of address party set

Claremont library on the move; present site closing

CLAREMONT — Friends of the Claremont Public Library and city officials will hold a change of address party from 4 to 5 p.m. today at the library, Harvard Avenue and Second Street.

The occasion will be the permanent closing of the present library building to make way for a larger, more versatile county library.

The library will be out of service for two weeks while books and equipment are moved to temporary quarters at 1375 N. Indian Hill Blvd, a building which is part of the Griswold's complex.

The new interim library will be open to Claremont patrons Sept. 24, and will provide service from 1 to 9 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday; 1 to 6 p.m. Thursday and Friday; and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday.

The present community library was built in 1928, and an addition in 1961 gave the building 5,500 square feet of space. The interim library, leased from Griswold's by the county library system for three years, contains about 6,200 square feet.

The new $1 million county library project for which the county Board of Supervisors is expected to call for construction bids in October, will encompass about 22,000 square feet, and allow for stocking of up to 100,000 volumes.

The Claremont library was 50 years old and going strong in February 1965 when Friends of the Claremont Public Library held a birthday party. The local library is one of the oldest branches of the Los Angeles county library system. It had its start in 1914 when a group called the Women's Union and others raised $500 to furnish a one-room structure at the rear of a bank.

The county took over operation of the library a year later.

In 1919 the library was moved to the southwest corner of Yale Avenue and Second Street, and remained at the location until 1928 when local voters approved $25,000 in bonds to construct a building at Harvard Avenue and Second Street.

Mrs. Helen Renwick donated two lots for the present site.

Mrs. Anna Robinson was librarian from 1914 until she retired in 1939. She was succeeded by Mrs. Vera Paul who stayed on the job until she retired after nearly 25 years in October 1963.

Others who have held the position of librarian have been Mrs. Kaye Sugiyama; Martha Ainsworth, now children's librarian; Steward Robbins; Mrs. Adelaide Schippers; and the present librarian, Mrs. Mary Haaker, who assumed her role in December 1970.

Mrs. Haaker will discuss the operation of the interim library during the party in the patio, and Mrs. Paul, guest of honor, will reminisce about the library operation when she was head librarian.

Mack Parks, 26-year resident of Claremont, will tell about the library from the patron's point of view. He and his wife, Hilda, one of the founding members of the Friends of the Claremont Public Library, and their three children have been constant users of the library.

Councilwoman Claire McDonald will tell about the future library and its many new services.

Mrs. Haaker said that patrons during the moving period are being loaned books for six weeks instead of the normal three-week borrowing period.

City Manager Keith Mulrooney has explained that the new library will be housed in a county building on county land. The present library was built by the city on city land, with the county leasing the building.

The city is turning over to the county the land on which the present building is located, and will pay back to the county the funds required to buy the land along Harvard Avenue to the Book House property and Bonita Avenue. The city has leased from Pomona College a 25-foot wide strip east of the alley from Bonita Avenue to Second Street for parking, and in turn will lease it to the county, Mulrooney said.

Hearing on Claremont motel proposal delayed

CLAREMONT — The Planning Commission has continued until its Sept. 18 meeting a public hearing on a conditional use permit for a restaurant and a 110-unit motel on the north side of Foothill Boulevard between Mills Avenue and the city boundary.

Applicant Reba Stover asked for continuation of the hearing Tuesday night because a representative for the developer could not attend the meeting.

The 2.3-acre property fronts 288 feet on Foothill Boulevard and is 347 feet deep.

The motel would have a total of 110 units in five two-story buildings. A swimming pool is also included in the site plan. The restaurant would be built later.

The commission approved a conditional use permit for Tozier and Abbott to allow conversion of a single-story building at 409 Harvard Ave. to office use. Another building at the rear of the property will continue as apartment units.

The commission approved an amendment to a conditional use permit for O'Meara Chandler to convert four of 122 motel units at the Rodeway Inn on Indian Hill Boulevard for locker room purposes in conjunction with a new tennis club.

The city staff noted that while the request was "somewhat unusual," it did not appear that giving approval would have any immediate adverse affects on the over-all operation of the combined motel and tennis club.

The commission left tabled requests for a zone change and an accompanying conditional use permit for a residential development on the north side of Base Line Road between Claremont Heights Drive and Padua Avenue.

Developer Ralph Lewis told the commission he would just as soon keep the requests tabled until he found out what the commission would do on his request for a horse district on the same property.

"Maybe the requirements of the city staff on the overlay district will be too restrictive," Lewis commented.

The commission continued until its next meeting discussion of the district until a site plan has been submitted by Lewis.

Rapid transit ideas will be aired in Rosemead session

ROSEMEAD — A report on the rapid transit and new bus service recommended by consultants for the Southern California Rapid Transit District will be presented here Thursday night.

The program, starting at 7:30 p.m., will be held at the Rosemead High School, 9063 E. Mission Drive.

Recommendations by consultants include 140 miles of subway, surface and aerial rapid transit lines in eight of the most heavily traveled corridors in the Los Angeles region.

About 70 per cent of Los Angeles County residents live or work within a 10-minute bus or car ride of the initial network, officials said.

A key aspect of the plan is the immediate expansion and development of innovative bus operations such as subscription service, park-ride operations, and establishment of preferential lanes on freeways and streets.

San Bernardino County given backup copter

SAN BERNARDINO — The San Bernardino County Board of Supervisors and the sheriff's department have acquired a Bell 47G3B helicopter from the Department of Defense for use in aerial law enforcement work.

The helicopter valued at $84,000 is a used military aircraft being acquired at no cost through the U.S. Department of Defense. The helicopter will be brought from Davis-Mothan Air Force Base in Tucson, Ariz., to San Bernardino where it will undergo minor modifications before being placed into service, primarily as a back-up aircraft to cover maintenance periods and other downtime for the two shierff's helicopters now in service.

The county is also hoping to purchase two other helicopters with a $688,605 grant being sought through the California Council on Criminal Justice under the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968.

Florist will be honored at parley

POMONA — Florist Lawrence Pollock, Jr. celebrates his 50th anniversary as a member of Florists' Transworld Delivery (FTD) as the honored guest at a meeting today of the Southern California members of the organization.

Pollock, who operates Pollock's Flower Shop at 715 N. Garey Ave., has owned the shop since 1922. The company moved from its original location at 283 N. Garey to the present shop in 1960.

Set at the Beverly Hills Hotel, the FTD meeting will also feature installment of officers for the next year. The dinner-dance meeting will see Victor Levy, Victor's Flowers, Lakewood, installed as chairman.

Canada settlement genealogist's topic

POMONA — Mrs. Richard Swank will present a program entitled: "The Settlement of Canada during the 1800s" during the Pomona Valley Genealogical Society program Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the Pomona library.

Mrs. Swank a genealogist for six years, has served the local society as board member, secretary and bulletin chairman. Her interest in Canada results from her mother coming from that country. Persons interested in genealogy are invited to attend.

Claremont Library slates three movies

CLAREMONT—The Claremont Public Library will present a series of movies during September, October and November at Pomona First Federal Savings and Loan, Foothill and Indian Hill boulevards.

"Tokyo Olympaid," a 93-minute documentary in color of the 1964 Olympics yill be shown at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 26.

"Americans on Everest," the spectacular assault on Mt. Everest by the first American expedition, will be viewed Oct. 24.

"The World of Jacques Yves Cousteau," the story about six aquanauts spending 27 days beneath the Mediterranean, and a 15-minute "Moods of Surfing," the sights, sounds and changing moods of the ocean, will be shown Nov. 28.

There is no admission charge.

Additional information may be obtained by calling 624-2047.

Garey High girl in barrio contest

POMONA — Sixteen-year-old Cynthia Jimenez, a 10th grader at Garey High School, is representing the Pomona area in a Miss Barrios Unidos contest. She is one of five contestants.

This is the second annual contest sponsored by the Community Service Organization.

The coronation dance will be held Sept. 15 at St. Sava's Hall, 1640 San Gabriel Blvd., San Gabriel. Rudy Macias and his orchestra will provide music from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Tickets at $2.50 each may be purchased by calling 213 263-3848.

Miss Jimenez, an honor-roll student with perfect attendance, hopes to attend college and prepare herself to do probation work after completing high school.

Creative talent of old to be discussed

CLAREMONT—Dr. Dean Black, research associate for the Ethel Percy Andrus Gerontology Center at USC, will discuss "A Generation of Explorers—A Look at the Creative Potential of Older People" when he speaks at the noon luncheon meeting of the University Club of Claremont Tuesday at Griswold's.

The $3.5 million Ethel Percy Andrus Gerontology Center was dedicated at USC Feb. 12 and built as a memorial to the late Dr. Ethel Percy Andrus, founder of the National Retired Teachers Association and the American Association of Retired Persons.

Some offices to close for state holiday

State, county and several local municipal offices will observe Admissions Day as a holiday Monday and will be closed to business but the day will be a regular work day for most people.

Pomona, Upland and Walnut city halls will be closed Monday. Pomona City Council will meet Tuesday night because of the holiday. Trash pickup will not be in operation in Upland Monday and workers will do double pickup on Tuesday to make up for the holiday. Otherwise trash pickup service throughout the Pomona Valley will be on regular schedule.

Banks will be closed but mail service will not be interrupted because of the state holiday. All federal offices will be open.

3 of Briggs' bills become state laws

SACRAMENTO — Three bills authored by Assemblyman John Briggs, R-35th Dist., have been signed into law by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The legislation:

—AB 833 prohibits the release of a dangerous mentally disordered sex offender upon return to the court by a state hospital until probation is granted or other disposition is made of the case.

—AB 834 amends the definition and the standard in the Food and Agricultural Code for buttermilk. It also revises the labeling requirements for the product.

AB 356 increases the indemnity payments for the destruction of livestock infected with tuberculosis or brucellosis.

City awards pact for Indian Hill job

POMONA — Laird Construction Co. of Claremont has been awarded a $54,394 contract by the City Council for resurfacing and other improvements on Indian Hill Boulevard from American Avenue to Holt Avenue.

Laird's was the lowest of three bids submitted and was 16 per cent less than the engineer's estimate of $65,000.

PARENT COOPERATIVE

Students of the summer program of the Claremont Child Development Center, located on the School of Theology campus, have fun on some play equipment. Summer program director Luke Perry watches as Tanya Newkirk, Augie Rible, Kim Lay and Helen Baird swing on a teeter totter. The nonprofit parent cooperative will begin its fall program Sept. 17, and will offer two, three-and five-day-a week programs. It aims to serve students of the Claremont Colleges and the community. Mrs. Dorris Hollingsworth is director. The center will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Hepatitis epidemic among GIs, families in Bavaria

NUERNBERG, Germany (UPI) —An army doctor said that "needle freak" drug abuse has touched off a hepatitis epidemic among U.S. troops and dependents in Bavaria, the frontier outpost of Western defenses.

Capt. Ward Cates, preventative medicine officer of the Army's 130th General Hospital, said the epidemic, although sparked by drug users, was spreading rapidly among nonaddicts also.

"A GI needle freak who develops hepatitis could infect his family and friends who have never main-lined anything," Cates, 30, of Rye, N.Y., said in an interview.

Cates said hepatitis, an infectious inflammation of the liver often caused by unsanitary injections, could soon spread to one out of every 50 soldiers and dependents in northern Bavaria at its present rate of spread.

The captain reported 82 hepatitis cases last month in northern Bavaria and 81 the month before. He said the incidence of the sometimes fatal disease contradicted Army claims that drug use has leveled off in Germany.

"We are seeing a hepatitis epidemic despite pronouncements by officials that the drug problem has leveled off or is going down," Cates said.

He said urine tests on which the army bases its claims are "full of loopholes that render the validity of the results wide open to question."

"On the other hand, with hepatitis results we can better gauge the seriousness of the problem we have on our hands," he said.

The captain said "one out of every four patients" admitted to his Army hospital has hepatitis. "The vast majority of the cases are between 18 and 24 years old and have contracted the disease from main-lining drugs or from living in close contact with drug abusers, he said.

An estimated 90,000 American soldiers occupy such major U.S. bases in Bavaria as Nuernberg, Bamberg, Fuerth, Erlangen and Ansbach. The region faces Czechoslovakia and East Germany.

Harness race fixing bared in FBI probe

NEW YORK (UPI) —A federal investigation has turned up cases of fixing in "superfecta" harness races run at Roosevelt, Yonkers and Monticello tracks during the first three months of this year, authorities said recently.

Sources close to the investigation said 20 persons, including five with ties to organized crime, were expected to be indicted by a federal grand jury in the next few weeks.

Several of the 20, the sources said, are well-known harness drivers.

The investigation, conducted jointly by the FBI and the Federal Strike Force Against Organized Crime from the New York U.S. Attorney's office, reportedly found that the fixers netted an estimated $2 million from January through March.

Authorities said some 50 witnesses were questioned before a federal grand jury in the investigation.

The superfecta, first introduced at state harness tracks in the state in 1971, was eliminated earlier this year at the three harness tracks after Off-Track Betting Corp. officials found "peculiar cashing patterns" on superfecta payoffs at several OTB offices and gave the information to federal authorities.

To win a superfecta wager, a bettor must pick the first four horses in the exact order they cross the finish line.

Calf with artificial heart still alive after 22 days

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) —Dr. Tetsuzo Akutsu, a pioneer in the development of artificial hearts, said recently that a calf has survived for a record 22 days with a heart of silicone rubber.

Akutsu said the length of survival was a "very important breakthrough" in the development of artificial hearts and was a step toward experimentation with human patients.

Akutsu said his immediate goal would be to "try to get consistent good results. If you can get 80 per cent animal survival for a month, then we would probably be ready to work with humans."

He said artificial hearts have been used in humans for limited periods, with a patient in Houston using one for three days while physicians awaited a donor for a transplant.

He said the device was placed in the chest of a 200-pound calf last month and the animal was now standing several times a day and drinking milk.

"It's been extremely difficult to have survival longer than two weeks," Akutsu said. "If you can go up to four weeks then it is a possibility of using it in clinical human patients."

A native of Japan, Akutsu came to the United States in 1957, joining the Cleveland Clinic staff. His first artificial heart implantation was in a dog that year. The animal lived about two hours.

Rejection of the silicone rubber has not been a problem, he said, but there have been difficulties with the weakness of the material and its tendency to tear.

He said compressed air from an outside source powers the heart through two tubes leading through the chest wall.

Fast-growing university

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — The St. Louis campus of the University of Missouri was established in 1963 and already has more than 4,400 alumni, 85 per cent of whom live and work in the St. Louis metropolitan area.

BYU students on dope face immediate cut

PROVO, Utah (UPI) — Students at Brigham Young University face immediate expulsion for use of illegal drugs, the president of the school warned.

President Dallin H. Oaks said in his welcoming address to more than 20,000 students that offenders "will have to demonstrate their total rehabilitation before we allow them to re-enter BYU."

"Every day we permit a drug user to remain at BYU we take chances with the welfare of thousands of other students," he said. "We will not take those chances."

BRIDGE

He was crazy, like old fox

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The late Albert Morehead was too busy with his writing to play much bridge. When he did play he was inclined to indulge in whimsical bidding, but generally he was crazy like a fox.

His heart overall was as sound as an old fashioned dollar, but would not have made against the bad breaks.

South hated to rescue Al but did run to two clubs. West passed. Al was delighted with clubs but didn't see how his partner could get to play any reasonable club contract. Finally he decided to try a trap and bid two hearts. East doubled happily.

South tried two spades. West doubled that and now Al ran to three clubs. By this time a doubling rhythm had been established. East doubled that also.

West opened a trump, but the lead didn't do the defense any good. There was no way to defeat three clubs and Al had stolen the rubber.

Was East entirely to blame? No. Just about 80 per cent. West should have bid two diamonds directly over South's two clubs so he gets a small part of the total blame.

18 Crewmen of spy ship Pueblo cited

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Navy gave belated awards for heroism Friday to 18 crewmen of the spy ship Pueblo, only U.S. Navy vessel to be boarded and captured in the past 111 years. The citations came 5-½ years after the ship was seized by North Korean gunboats.

The awards had been recommended by Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, the Pueblo's commanding officer, for action by the men on Jan. 23, 1968, the day of the capture, Pentagon spokesman Jerry W. Freidheim said.

They were freed three days before Christmas of 1968.

Bucher received no award, Freidheim said, because no higher-ranking officers recommended medals for the commander's actions on the day of the capture.

Friedheim said the action was delayed until now because it was decided to wait until all POWs in Indochina had been released. Freidheim said there had been concern that awards to other military prisoners might adversely affect treatment of American POWs in Indochina.

Bucher came under extreme criticism from many Navy officers for not fighting to the death to prevent his ship from being captured.

Freidheim said the ship is still berthed in the harbor at Wonson, the port to which the North Koreans took the Pueblo when they captured it.

Freidheim said the Navy is considering other awards for crewmen covering their actions during their 11 months in captivity.

The Pueblo carried 81 sailors and Marines and two civilian oceanagraphers when she was seized. One crewman, Fireman Duane Hodges of Creswell, Ore., was killed in the brief fight during enemy boarding. He was posthumously awarded the Silver Star, the highest award given the crewmen and the third highest valor award given by the military.

Rams rip 49ers on interceptions

By MIKE RAWLINSON
P-B Staff Writer

LOS ANGELES — John Brodie flew the unfriendly skies of the Coliseum Friday night and the result was a debacle the likes of which Ram fans haven't seen for awhile.

In the final tune-up for the 1973 NFL season, the veteran San Francisco quarterback was intercepted four times by a lean and hungry Ram secondary.

Safety Dave Elmendorf an old-timer by present Ram standards of longevity, was the chief abductor of Brodie's passes. He picked off three and ran one back 72 yards for one of five L. A. touchdowns in a 28-10 rout.

A delighted crowd of 57,687 sat in amazement as the Rams concluded the pre-season with a 2-3-1 record. The 49ers, who led the NFC's Western Division with a 4-2 record, must wonder what went wrong.

Linebacker Isiah Robertson accounted for the fourth theft and he ran that one back 30 yards for a touchdown. A fifth interception by Jim Youngblood was thrown by Brodie's second half replacement Steve Spurrier.

But the interceptions were only part of the story Friday night.

The Ram offensive unit led by John Hadl put 21 points up on the board before Brodie began to spray passes over the premises.

Hadl threw touchdown passes of 39 and four yards, and Tony Baker ran one in from a yard out early in the first half to establish a strong foundation for the rest of the evening's activities.

The Rams could have rested on their laurels right there. Only a TD pass by Brodie at the end of the half and Bruce Gossett's 44 yard field goal with 7:10 left in the third quarter saved the 49ers from a shutout.

As it was a week ago in a 30-17 victory over San Diego L. A.'s ground attack was the key from the outset with Larry McCutcheon leading the way with 94 yards on seven carries. Six Ram ballcarriers netted 237 yards for a 5.1 average. Hadl added 78 yards by completing five of 12 passes and his replacement James Harris totaled 20 more with a meager two for 12 in the second half.

Despite the interception, Brodie completed 13 of 26 for 105 yards, but nine 49er rushers managed only 180 yards on the ground.

The Rams, in running up 38 points in the first half, got considerable help from the 49ers.

Not that the Rams didn't do much of it on their own, but Brodie and company continually added fuel to the fire.

Brodie tossed three interceptions in the first 30 minutes alone, and at least two more passes were in and out of the cluthes of the Rams.

Elmendorf picked off two—the first setting up David Ray's nine-yard field goal to give L.A. a comfortable 24-0 lead.

But before the half could mercifully end, Brodie had chucked two more passes into the enemy's eager hands.

Robertson picked off the next one and strutted 30 yards unmolested for a 31-0 Ram lead.

Elmendorf was back in the act about five minutes later, intercepting Brodie at the L. A. 28 and sprinting 72 yards in a straight line to the fifth touchdown of the half.

Brodie finally found friendly hands — those of tight end Ted Kwalick for a 25-yard scoring play with only eight seconds left.

L. A. earned the first 21 points all by itself.

McCutcheon set up the first score with a 63-yard run on the second play of the Rams' second offensive series. Tony Baker punched it in from one-yard line for 7-0 Ram lead.

Hadl followed that up with a 39-yard bomb to Harold Jackson, who zipped up the middle and had a step on cornerback Bruce Taylor when he caught the ball at the 20 and ran it in.

Following an unsportsman-like conduct on the 49ers a series later, the Ram quarterback threw a strike to Bob Klein from the four-yard line for a 21-0 L. A. lead.

THAT'S ALL FOR CHRIS

Veteran Australian Margaret Court pats American teenager Chris Evert on the back after defeating her, 7-5, 2-6, 6-2 in the semifinals of the U. S. Open Tennis Championships at Forest Hills.

A first at Forest Hills

Aussie women in finals

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI) — Margaret Court and Evonne Goolagong won semifinal matches Friday to set up the first all-Australian women's singles final at the U.S. Open tennis championships.

Mrs. Court won a thrilling three-setter from Chris Evert of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., 7-5, 2-6, 6-2, while Miss Goclagong beat the unseeded Helga Masthoff of Germany, 6-1, 4-6, 6-4.

In an all-Australian men's doubles final, John Newcombe and Owen Davidson teamed to defeat the veteran duo of Ken Rosewall and Rod Laver, 7-5, 26, 7-5, 7-5. The winning team shared $4,000 with the losers getting $2,000.

For Newcombe it was his third doubles crown at Forest Hills. He won in 1967 with Tony Roche and in 1971 partnered Britain's Roger Taylor.

In the history of the U.S. championship, which dates back to 1887, the final tie has never seen two Australians in opposition, although the 31-year-old Mrs. Court has contested six finals dating back to 1962 when she won the first of her four titles at the West Side Tennis Club.

Miss Evert, the darling of American tennis who has been knocking on the door of greatness for the past three years, suffered her third straight semifinal defeat. She went into the match, 1-1, against the great Australian, having lost to her in the final of the French, but having turned the tables in the Wimbledon semifinal this year, but it was not to be her day.

She had her chances, but Mrs. Court's experience gained in championships around the world during the past decade saw her through.

Mrs. Court, who has won 11 Australian, five French, three Wimbledon and three Italian titles, in addition to her successes at Forest Hills, is now favored to defeat Miss Goolagong in the final which carries a purse of $25,000 for the winner.

Chris, looking petite in a pastel pink outfit, fought as though her life depended on the outcome, but in the end her lack of variety in shotmaking and the Australian's superior service and overhead game spelled the difference.

Chris started in confident fashion by breaking service and holding for 2-0 in the first set, but Margaret then reeled off five games in a row to reach 5-2 before she dropped her service in the ninth and allowed Chris to tie at 5-5 in the 10th. But in the 12th game, she clinched the set on the second of her set points when Chris was long with a forehand.

Miss Evert, who said: "I'm not frustrated at losing three straight semifinals," took five games in a row in the second set to lead 5-1 and wrapped up the set even the match in the eighth game when Margaret was wide with a backhand.

Harmon eyeing repeat of 1972 season opener

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI)—UCLA quarterback Mark Harmon hopes to repeat his performance of a year ago when the Bruins take on mighty Nebraska.

The handsome son of Heisman Trophy winner Tom Harmon hadn't played any major college football before taking the field against the Cornhuskers last year. But he performed like a veteran in guiding the Bruins to a 20-17 upset win in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

Harmon will have many of the players from a year ago, including kicking specialist Efren Herrera, who booted the game-winning field goal against Nebraska with just 22 seconds remaining.

Among other returnees are the "Blair Pair," James McAlister and Kermit Johnson, All West Coast performers in 1972 during the Bruins' 8-3 season. Their nickname stems from the fact that they were also teammate s at Blair High School in Pasadena.

Nebraska's defensive coordinator and defensive line coach, Monte Kiffin, rates Harmon as the second best wishbone quarterback ever produced. Jack Mildren, former Oklahoma star, was a little better, Kiffin believes.

Nebraska is a slight favorite for the 1:50 p.m. (PDT) nationally televised game, even though quarterback Dave Humm, who had a super sophomore year, was far from top form and might even be held out of play.

Humm's importance is pointed out by a review of his 1972 statistics, which included a total of 2,259 passing yards, 18 touchdown passes and five touchdowns on the ground during Nebraska's 9-2-1 season.

At mid-week, Nebraska's new head coach, 34-year-old Tom Osborne, said Humm was "still not ready," leading to strong speculation that senior Steve Runty would start at quarterback. Runty passed for six touchdowns and ran for three in limited action last year.

Even though Humm has shown marked improvement from strained knee ligaments, Osborne said it really wasn't a question if the lefthander from Las Vegas would start but whether he would play.

Other than the questionable status of Humm, Osborne said he was satisfied with preparations for the UCLA game and said "the general attitude of the team is fine."

Nebraska is expected to be tough defensively again this year and to show better balance offensively because of better running than a year ago.

Osborne said he expected UCLA to come up with the unexpected but added that the Cornhuskers were preparing a few surprises too.

The Nebraska team practiced behind locked gates the past couple of weeks because Osborne did not want to tip off the UCLA coaches about some new wrinkles he had introduced.

With or without Humm, the new coach said he expected to win. On the other hand, Rodgers questioned the oddsmakers who listed Nebraska as the favorite and said he figured the game should have been figured about even.

The football fare isn't too plentiful today. In the East, Holy Cross plays Massachusetts and Temple Hosts Xavier (Ohio); the South, Memphis St.-Louisville, North Carolina St.-East Carolina, Virginia Tech-William & Mary, Virginia-VMI and Mississippi-Villanova; The Midwest, Dayton-Youngstown and Northern Illinois-Indiana St.; The Southwest, New Mexico St.-Lamar, West Texas St.-Drake and Arizona-Colorado St., The West, San Jose St.-Santa Clara and Pacific-Sacramento St.

Pads extend Dodger grief

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

LOS ANGELES — The Los Angeles Dodgers didn't lose any ground to the Reds in the National League West pennant race Friday night.

They didn't gain any either when they had a golden opportunity to do so.

As a result, the Dodgers lost time as well as their eighth straight game—their longest losing streak since 1967—in suffering a 4-3 defeat to the incredible San Diego Padres, a team that doesn't realize its season was over in May.

At least the 15,931 fans could cheer the scoreboard, starting with the news of Cincinnati's loss to Atlanta and continuing with the Rams' easy romp.

Los Angeles stays 2½ games behind the Cincinnati Reds but is now 1½ ahead of the Giants with 20 games remaining on the schedule.

At least there are only four left with the Padres.

Instead of Washington, San Diego should find a way to move to Los Angeles. The Padres play like champions in Dodger Stadium as evidenced by their giant 6-1 edge over the home team in L. A.

The Dodgers showed signs of breaking out of their slump by twice rallying to tie but the end result was the same against a team on which the Dodgers had hoped they could gain some ground.

Third-baseman Dave Roberts, who is in his second season with the Padres after a brilliant career at the University of Oregon, was the chief culprit in pinning the loss on Claude Osteen.

Roberts' double in the first inning scored Jerry Morales with the Padre run with Roberts scoring on Nate Colbert's single and shortstop Bill Russell's throwing error. It was Roberts again in the sixth when he broke a 3-3 tie with a home run over the center field fence. It was his 17th of the campaign to take the team lead.

Meanwhile left hander Mike Caldwell came out of the bullpen to relieve Steve Arlin in the bottom of the sixth to blank the Dodgers through the final four frames in saving Arlin's 10th victory.

Los Angeles' best chance came in the seventh when Russell singled, advanced to second on Osteen's sacrifice and continued to third on a wild pitch. But Caldwell got pinch-hitter Manny Mota to ground out weakly back to him, with Davey Lopes also grounding out to end the threat.

With two out in the ninth Russell beat out an infield single and went to second on another wild pitch, but Caldwell retired Ken McMullen to end the game.

Crawford celebrated his 27th birthday by driving in Lopes twice with a single in the first and a double in the fifth.

"I wouldn't have believed if I hadn't seen it," manager Walt Alston said about the latest loss. "We're swinging at a lot of bad balls with everybody in the same category. We can't seem to bring the runners in from third."

The Dodgers left six men on base, four of them in scoring position.

DODGER NOTES . . . Tommy John (12-7) will face Clay Kirby (7-16) at 7 p.m. this evening on Dodger-Pepsi T Shirt Night with youngsters 14 and under receiving the free shirts. Andy Messersmith (11-10) will test his pulled hamstring against left-hander Rich Troedson (6-6) in Sunday's 2 p.m. contest.

Texas Ranger owner fires Whitey Herzog

ARLINGTON, Tex. (UPI) — Texas Ranger owner Bob Short, who four months ago declared Whitey Herzog "the best damn manager in baseball," fired Herzog Friday night.

Del Wilber, who managed the Ranger farm club in Spokane, Wash., to the Pacific Coast League championship this season, replaced Herzog as interim manager of the team with the worst record in major league baseball.

Short called a news conference for today at which time he was expected to announce Billy Martin as the new Ranger manager.

"I think he has already hired Martin," said Herzog. "If he hasn't, then why did he fire me? I think he has got to grab Martin before he goes somewhere else."

"I understand now I made a mistake when I asked Whitey to manage the club," said Short at a news conference before Friday night's Oakland-Texas game. "Last year I deliberately avoided choosing a man with managerial experience. This time I'm looking for a person with that experience.

"I've already talked to some potential candidates. I could name the new manager very soon. It could be quick."

Despite the Rangers' lowly record (47-91 going into Friday night's game), Herzog's firing was a shock to those close to the team.

Herzog, 41, who was hired from the New York Mets organization to replace Ted Williams last winter, had developed a rapport with his players, the fans and the news media.

Short admitted that his action would not meet with approval from the fans.

"I realize I won't be lauded for anything I've done here today," Short said.

Rain halts Angel game after four

KANSAS CITY (UPI) — Friday night's California-Kansas City baseball game was postponed after a one hour and four minutes rain delay in the fifth inning.

There was no score in the game as Nolan Ryan and Steve Busby had each allowed two hits.

The game will be made up as part of a doubleheader today.

Broncos face tough opening assignment

By CRAIG TRAVIS
P-B Staff Writer

FRESNO — After three weeks of practice Cal Poly will finally get an idea of its 1973 football fortunes.

The Broncos open their grid campaign tonight in a 7:30 p.m. kickoff at Fresno's Ratcliffe Stadium.

Poly, 4-6 last year after winning four of its first five contests and then dropping five straight, will need an outstanding performance from each member of its 45-man traveling squad if it's to begin the new season on a bright note.

Last year Poly registered a 22-6 win over unknown Southern Utah in its opener. Unknown because head coach Roy Anderson had no idea what to expect from the Thunderbirds.

But the Bronco skipper is well aware of this tough first-game opponent.

Fresno State has 17 returning lettermen and a new head coach in J. R. Boone, who is accustomed to winning. He brings a 128-32-4 coaching record, including four confeernce titles in six years at Reedley Junior College—and the 1971 state JC title, with him when he takes over the reigns of the 1973 Bulldogs.

Fresno, competing in the tough Pacific Coast Athletic Association, finished 1972 with a 6-4-1 overall slate and a 1-3 PCAA mark behind San Diego State (4-0) and Pacific (3-1).

The team was second in scoring (21.5 points per game) and averaged 299.0 yards per game defensively. . .179.5 via the air.

In some respects the Broncos enter the Fresno St. game in better shape than last year's opener with Southern Utah. Fifteen of Poly's 50 players were injured in 1972 whereas tackle Barney Path is this year only casualty.

While the excitement of the numerous young players is the forte of this year's Bronco team, inexperience is the achilles heel.

Of the 47-man roster only 12 are letterman and only five of those are seniors.

Despite the inexperience coach Anderson is cautiously optimistic.

"Our offensive line has to be our best unit," says Anderson. "They are the key to our whole offense. They have adequate size and have shown good crisp blocking in scrimmages."

The strength in thah line lies in two junior college transfers and a center who started for Poly last year as a freshman.

Transfers Steve Celotto (LT) and Randy Danile (LG) played side by side last year at El Camino Junior College and their experience should help steady the line. Steve Weiss, at 6-3, 235, is the center and is already being considered for post-season honors. The right side features tackle Vernon Smith, soph from E.L.A., and soph guard Jeff Buhr.

The offensive threat should come from quarterback Jim Zorn and running backs Greg Cruz and Rick Robinson.

Zorn is a threat to run with the ball as well as pass while Cruz, in his senior year, is looking for his best year as a Bronco. Last season he had six touchdown and was the team's top rusher with 626 yeards and a 4.1 average. Robinson, who is replacing the departed Rudy Murray, was a late-season starter in '72 with a 4.0 yard aveage.

Receivers Joe Fabian (FL), Ron Tatum (SE) and Dve Stock (TE) have experience, size and speed to give the Broncs a reliable passing game.

Defensive coordinator Marv Weetman, who comes to Cal Poly from the staff of Jim Owens at the U. of Washington, singles out veteran Collin Bromley and sophomore transfer Gary Bockman as the strength of the defensive line.

Bockman (6-1, 175) and Bromley (6-0, 195) are typical of the defensive unit. "We're not big," cautions Anderson, "but we're quick with good pursuit."

The other lineman will be (DE) Bill Embree and (DT) Jose Echeverria.

The linebackers will be transfers Joe Diaz and Dave Chapman, from MSAC, and Lonnie Mahi, a freshman from Hawaii.

The secondary is composed of veterans Dennis Amador and Paul Russell, transfer Louie Perez, a sophomore from Rio Hondo JC, and freshman Rod Hiatt.

Football pass league starts

POMONA — A football passing league for men at least 18-years-old is forming and will be sanctioned by the Pomona Parks and Recreation Department.

Games will be played Saturday mornings at one of the junior high fields in the city.

The object of the game will be to match five receivers against seven defensive backs. No blocking is allowed and the quarterback will have four seconds to release the ball. The offensive team will have four downs to move the ball 20 yards for a first down. Downing a player will be by touch.

An entry fee of $60 per team will be required. Those interested in entering a team should contact Phil La Pierre at the Parks and Recreation Department, 620-2321, or Bob Stephens, 628-6496, after 5 p.m.

I'm too far advanced - Ali

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—For the second straight day, former heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali did not spar Friday choosing instead to work on the heavy bag for one hour because he is in "tip top shape."

Ken Norton, Ali's 12-round opponent at Monday night's fight, followed the 31-year-old Cherry Hill, N. J., fighter into the ring. Norton broke Ali's jaw and scored a decision at San Diego last March 31.

"I'm too far advanced," said a perspiring Ali. "I'm in tip top shape. I don't want to overtrain. I don't want to be like Norton. He won't have no gas to burn no fuel for the fire.

"He's gonna come in Monday night much weaker than myself. I'm just right. Everything is all right when I'm 210-212 pounds. When I'm at this weight, look for trouble."

Norton disagreed with Ali's self-assessment. "I have a great deal of respect for Muhammad Ali and what he's done for boxing," he said, "but he's on the way out and won't admit it.

"He thinks he can find a fountain of youth by getting down in weight but he will find out after the first round Monday night that he's an old man."

In Ali's 60-minute drill at the new Marriott Hotel here, the colorful former Cassius Clay actually knocked down the heavy bag. Onlookers whistled at the power of his righthand punch.

"He's ready," said trainer Angelo Dundee. "He's had over 55 rounds of boxing and doesn't need any more. He's trained very hard for this fight and he looks just great physically."

Dundee said, however, that Ali might spar Saturday, one day before the official weighin, "if he's got too much vinegar."

After his drill, Ali held court for a small army of journalists.

"I draw the world's greatest writers like flies," he said. "They're here from all over."

Ali said he was down to 208 pounds after his third session since arriving in Los Angeles from his Deer Lake, Pa., training camp Wednesday.

"I promise you a different show this time," he said. "Sugar Ray Robinson was a great fighter but he lost to a guy named Randy Turpin. He didn't seriously train the first time but he beat him the second time. The same thing with Joe Louis and Max Schmeling and Floyd Patterson and Ingemar Johannson."

"This time I'm one hundred percent. This time it's no contest. They really think I'm finished but I'm back down. Muhammad Ali has returned."

Asked about George Foreman, the new heavyweight champ, Ali sneered: "You'll all have to force him into fighting me. He doesn't want any part of me. I was the last of the true champions. Boxing died the five and one half months while my jaw was healing. Now, I'm back."

Norton sparred three hard rounds with Moleman Williams, Eddie Jones and Jimmy Young and then said, "I definitely will find ways to nullify Ali's speed.

"If I have to adjust, I have full confidence in my trainer, Eddie Futch, to find a different avenue of approach.

"I plan on winning this fight; in the first, fifth or 12th rounds. If I have to to win, I'll kick him."

Compared to Ali's 55 rounds, Norton has sparred 168 rounds.

Sports news in brief

THE PHILADELPHIA EAGLES announced Friday that they would sign 12-year veteran linebacker Marlin McKeever "sometime next week." McKeever, 33, played with the Vikings, Redskins and Rams, with whom he spent eight of his 12 seasons before being picked up on waivers by San Diego two weeks ago. He then decided to retire and was made a free agent by the Chargers.

MIKE STOREN, a young and energetic "alley fighter" who helped build the American Basketball Association's two strongest franchises, Friday was named the league's fourth commissioner and said his goal would be to build the ABA into the "finest pro basketball league that exists."

PETER REVSON, who sat on the pole position in this year's California 500 at Ontario Motor Speedway, set the fastest time in his McLaren Friday in the first of two day practice for Sunday's Italian Grand Prix for Formula One cars.

JOHN SCHROEDER, overcoming a double bogey on the 15th hole, charged into the clubhouse with three straight birdies Friday to take the second round lead in the $100,000 Southern Open Golf Tournament in Columbus, Ga.

DEFENDING CHAMPION Jane Blalock rushed from out of the pack on the back nine with three birdies and jumped into a two-stroke lead over five golfers Friday after the opening round of the $35,000 Dallas Civitan Ladies Open.

THE UNITED STATES men's 800 meter freestyle relay team set a world record and a a pair of 16-year-olds, Heather Greenwood and Melissa Belote, picked up more gold medals to boost the United States ahead of East Germany at the World Swimming Championships Friday in Belgrade.

LBJ STABLE'S Goalie fought back gamely after being passed in the stretch by Rough Night Friday to capture the $11,000 allowance feature at Del Mar.

Freedom Classic offers celebrities

LOS ANGELES — What promised to be one of the greatest days in the history of the South Los Angeles Community unfolds from dawn to dusk today when the Fourth Annual Freedom Classic Football Game, pitting Grambling College against Cal State University Long Beach, takes place at the Los Angeles Coliseum, amidst a growing number of preliminary and related activities.

The football game, sponsored by the Los Angeles Urban League, is expected to attract 55,000 spectators for a 2:30 p.m. kickoff, marking the first time this event has been held in the daytime since its inception in 1969 when Alcorn A&M defeated Grambling, 28-7, before 62,294 onlookers.

Also of great interest is the Celebrity All-Star Touch Football Game at 1:30 p.m. in which many of the great names of Hollywood motion picture, television, and radio entertainment, plus ex-athletic stars will participate. This is a unique addition, innovated by Game Director Larry Shane, which now shows promise of "stealing the show" altogether.

The celebrities will be coached by two former pro football immortals, Green Bay Packers defensive captain and end Willie Davis, now a successful beer distributor in Los Angeles, and Rosie Grier, who was a fine tackle for the New York Giants and Los Angeles Rams, then became a top singer and guitar player.

Among the stellar attractions for the Celebrity Game will be Honorary Quarterbacks Sammy Davis, Carroll O'Connor, and 5-year old TV commercial sensation Rodney Allen Rippy. Redd Foxx is the on-field play-by-play announcer.

Also on the who's who list are Henry Gibson, Greg Morris, Marvin Gaye, Stu Gilliam, Cannonball Adderly, Sally Struthers, Flip Wilson, Sugar Ray Robinson, Rob Reiner, Joe Campanella, Ted Bessell, Anne Francis, Judy Pace, Raymond St. Jacques, John Amos, Don Mitchell, Diahann Carroll, Hope Lange, Pam Grier, William Shatner, Rod Steiger, Ruth Buzzi, John Forsythe, Carmen McRae, Paul Winfield, Barry Sullivan, Lucie Arnaz, Tige Andrews, and jazz organist Jimmy Smith.

AYSO conducts sign-ups

CLAREMONT — Registrations for the Claremont American Youth Soccer Organization (AYSO) will be taken on Monday and Wednesday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at Taylor Hall, located on Indian Hill Boulevard above Claremont High School.

This is the seventh year of organized AYSO soccer in Claremont. Registration is for both boys and girls, ages 7-15. Birth certificates are required.

Tryouts will be held on Sept. 15 at La Puerta School, Summer School, Danbury School and Oakmont School.

Carol calls press conference

LOS ANGELES — Actress Carol Channing, star of the musical "Lorelei," which opens at the Shubert Theater in Century City Oct. 10, will hold a press conference, open to the public, in the mall beside the theater at 11 a.m. Sept. 17.

The occasion signals the opening of the box office for ticket sales to the show.

"Lorelei" is a musical remake of "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" in which Miss Channing first reached stardom on Broadway. The musical will tour the United States after its Los Angeles engagement and open in New York later in the fall.

The team of Betty Comden and Adolph Green have written the lyrics for "Loreli" with music by Jules Styne. This trio has been jointly responsible for some of the biggest hit musicals of the last 30 years — "On the Town," "Wonderful Town," "Bells Are Ringing," "Gypsy," "Funny Girl," "Sugar" and others.

Counseling help

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — More than 40 faculty members on the St. Louis campus of the University of Missouri serve as sponsors and counselors to various student organizations.

WILD WARRIOR — Colorfully costumed Chinese warriors such as this one take part in the presentation of ancient legends by the National Chinese Opera Theater of the Republic of China. The company will open its American tour at the Ahmanson Theater of the Los Angeles Music Center Sept. 18-23.

Valasquez to appear at Music Center

LOS ANGELES — Singer Nelson Velasquez will be guest star with the Ballet Folklorico Mexicano de Graciela Tapia Sept. 14 and 15 in the Los Angeles Music Center's Ahmanson Theater.

Also appearing will be the 10-piece band, Marimba Maya be heard in Mayan Indian be hear in Mayan Indian music, as well as for accompaniment to dances to Tehuantepec and Chiapas.

JOAN SUTHERLAND

Ballet stars to perform at the Bowl

HOLLYWOOD — For the first time this season the reflecting pool of the Hollywood Bowl will be covered when ballet stars Edward Villella and Allegra Kent perform with the Los Angeles Philharmonic.

They will do solos and a pas de deux from "Swan Lake' and perform in a new ballet, "Salute to Cole," choreographed by Villella.

The five Cole Porter songs used in the latter were selected by Villella and Andre Kostelanetz, who will be on the podium for the evening, and orchestrated by the conductor.

Villella has been a principal dancer with the New York City Ballet for over 15 years. He has been seen in theaters all over the world, including Moscow's Bolshoi.

Miss Kent, a native of Santa Monica, is also a member of the New York City Ballet.

The "Swan Lake" excerpts to be danced are from Act II. The purely orchestral portions of the program are all ballet-derived. Kostelanetz will conduct the Philharmonic in a suite from Prokofieff's "Romeo and Juliet," and in works by Copland, Glazunov and Weber.

Soprano to sing in Claremont

CLAREMONT — Soprano Joan Sutherland and her husband, pianist Richard Bonynge, will present a recital in Bridges Auditorium of the Claremont Colleges at 8:15 p.m. Sept. 26.

The couple met as music students in their native Australia, she as a voice student and he as a piano pupil. They met again in London, where she was a member of the Royal Opera, and he began coaching her in the "golden age" early 19th century roles he had learned to love in his student days.

Their joint debut took place in Rome, she as the diva and he as conductor. In recitals, Bonynge exchanges his baton for the piano and accompanies Miss Sutherland.

The program will include selections by Sarti, Handel, Bellini, Donizetti, Rossini, Masenet, Offenbach and others.

Tickets are available at Bridges Auditorium box office, 626-4523, and all agencies.

Carol calls press conference

LOS ANGELES — Actress Carol Channing, star of the musical "Lorelei," which opens at the Shubert Theater in Century City Oct. 10, will hold a press conference, open to the public, in the mall beside the theater at 11 a.m. Sept. 17.

The occasion signals the opening of the box office for ticket sales to the show.

"Lorelei" is a musical remake of "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" in which Miss Channing first reached stardom on Broadway. The musical will tour the United States after its Los Angeles engagement and open in New York later in the fall.

The team of Betty Comden and Adolph Green have written the lyrics for "Loreli" with music by Jules Styne. This trio has been jointly responsible for some of the biggest hit musicals of the last 30 years — "On the Town," "Wonderful Town," "Bells Are Ringing," "Gypsy," "Funny Girl," "Sugar" and others.

Counseling help

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — More than 40 faculty members on the St. Louis campus of the University of Missouri serve as sponsors and counselors to various student organizations.

WILD WARRIOR — Colorfully costumed Chinese warriors such as this one take part in the presentation of ancient legends by the National Chinese Opera Theater of the Republic of China. The company will open its American tour at the Ahmanson Theater of the Los Angeles Music Center Sept. 18-23.

Valasquez to appear at Music Center

LOS ANGELES — Singer Nelson Velasquez will be guest star with the Ballet Folklorico Mexicano de Graciela Tapia Sept. 14 and 15 in the Los Angeles Music Center's Ahmanson Theater.

Also appearing will be the 10-piece band, Marimba Maya be heard in Mayan Indian be hear in Mayan Indian music, as well as for accompaniment to dances to Tehuantepec and Chiapas.

JOAN SUTHERLAND

Soprano to sing in Claremont

CLAREMONT — Soprano Joan Sutherland and her husband, pianist Richard Bonynge, will present a recital in Bridges Auditorium of the Claremont Colleges at 8:15 p.m. Sept. 26.

The couple met as music students in their native Australia, she as a voice student and he as a piano pupil. They met again in London, where she was a member of the Royal Opera, and he began coaching her in the "golden age" early 19th century roles he had learned to love in his student days.

Their joint debut took place in Rome, she as the diva and he as conductor. In recitals, Bonynge exchanges his baton for the piano and accompanies Miss Sutherland.

The program will include selections by Sarti, Handel, Bellini, Donizetti, Rossini, Masenet, Offenbach and others.

Tickets are available at Bridges Auditorium box office, 626-4523, and all agencies.

Ballet stars to perform at the Bowl

HOLLYWOOD — For the first time this season the reflecting pool of the Hollywood Bowl will be covered when ballet stars Edward Villella and Allegra Kent perform with the Los Angeles Philharmonic.

They will do solos and a pas de deux from "Swan Lake' and perform in a new ballet, "Salute to Cole," choreographed by Villella.

The five Cole Porter songs used in the latter were selected by Villella and Andre Kostelanetz, who will be on the podium for the evening, and orchestrated by the conductor.

Villella has been a principal dancer with the New York City Ballet for over 15 years. He has been seen in theaters all over the world, including Moscow's Bolshoi.

Miss Kent, a native of Santa Monica, is also a member of the New York City Ballet.

The "Swan Lake" excerpts to be danced are from Act II. The purely orchestral portions of the program are all ballet-derived. Kostelanetz will conduct the Philharmonic in a suite from Prokofieff's "Romeo and Juliet," and in works by Copland, Glazunov and Weber.

Rites by youth

CHINO — Young people will lead the 9 a.m. worship service Sunday at the United Methodist Church to climax the summer church school program.

The youth wrote the liturgy and sermon material for the service. They will be directed Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. John Weaver.

Th theme for the service will be based on understanding Christifan faith as it is expressed in symbols. Music will also be provided by young people.

A fellowship hour will be held in the social hall after the service.

Students entering the fourth grade will be presented with Bibles during the service.

Concert tonight

POMONA — Members of the Land Family, the United Ones and the Harrison Family Singers will appear in concert tonight at a 7:30 service at the Pentecostal Holiness Church.

The public is invited to the free concert.

Harrison Singers

POMONA — The Harrison Family Singers will perform Sunday at the 10:45 a.m. worship service at the Towne Avenue Church of the Nazarene.

The Harrison Family Singers appear at conventions, rallies and church services. This is their first appearance at the local church.

The Rev. Clyde W. Rather will discuss "If I Should Awake Before I Die" at the morning service Sunday.

The pastor's 7 p.m. topic will be "Are You Ready for the Rapture?"

Evangelism series

CHINO — The Rev. J. H. Whipple will conduct a series of evangelistic meetings Sunday at 7 p.m. at the Chino Church of God.

The evangelist will conduct services nightly at 7:30 through Sept. 16. No service will be held on Saturday night.

Mr. Whipple is the former pastor of the Church of God in Ontario. He will be speaking on a variety of subjects during the series.

Guest speaker

POMONA — Dr. James Staples, president of the California Baptist College in Riverside, will be the guest speaker at the 11 a.m. worship service Sunday at the First Southern Baptist Church.

John Bumpus will speak at the 6 p.m. service.

Educator to speak

LA VERNE — Dr. Vernard Eller, professor of religion at La Verne College, will speak at the 10:30 a.m. worship service Sunday at the Fellowship Church of the Brethren.

Mel Belcher will be worship leader.

A business meeting will be held at 6:30 p.m. Sunday.

Homecoming day

POMONA — Young people of the Macedonia Baptist Church will sponsor a homecoming day service Sunday at 3 p.m. and have invited former members to attend.

The theme for the service is "Together in His Name."

YOUTH SINGERS — Marsha Stevens and Wendy Carter, both members of the Children of the Day singing group, will appear with other members Sunday at the Ramona Avenue Christian Church in La Verne.

Singing group will perform on tour

LA VERNE — The Children of the Day singing group will appear at the Ramona Avenue Christian Church Sunday at the 10 a.m. worship service in sacred concert.

The group, all young people from Claremont and graduates of Claremont High School, will leave Sept. 14 for a singing tour of churches and youth meetings throughout the United States. They will then travel to London, England, Norway, Holland, Sweden and will entertain U.S. armed forces troops in West Germany.

Group members include Peter and Hanneke Jacobs, Russ and Marsha Stevens and Wendy Carter.

The music style of the group ranges from classical to folk rock. Members organized three years ago and began singing at church meetings and youth gatherings.

They write much of their own music and have recorded two albums "Come to the Water" and "With All My Love."

The group will travel by motor home throughout the United States. It will travel throughout Europe by bus with members of the Continental Singers.

Peking okays tour for U.S. students

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (UPI) —Authorities in Peking have approved a three-month study tour for students and faculty members of Antioch College here.

Antioch professor Frank Wong said a group of 10 persons will leave for China sometime after January for a three-week tour. Then they will go to Hong Kong for three months of study.

SERMON TOPICS

Bethany Baptist of Montclair

MONTCLAIR — The Rev. D. L. Bray will give a Communion meditation at the 11 a.m. worship service Sunday at the Bethany Baptist Church.

Mrs. Elaine Grisso, soprano, will be soloist for the service.

The pastor will discuss "After Vacation" at the 6 p.m. service.

The Social Committee will sponsor a watermelon feed for the congregation in the fellowship hall after the service.

Pomona First Lutheran

POMONA — The Rev. N. J. Boer will discuss "The Sermon from the Pews" Sunday at the 9:30 a.m. worship service at the First Lutheran Church.

This will be the final service for the congregation at the present location at 490 E. La Verne Ave. The congregation will meet next Sunday at 1751 N. Park Ave.

Victor Hamilton, choir director, will be soloist Sunday.

The Junior League will host a coffee hour in the fellowship hall after the service.

Immanuel Lutheran Church

CHINO — The Rev. Martin W. Keck will discuss "Offer Willingly" Sunday at the 10 a.m. worship service at the Immanuel Lutheran Church.

Christ the King Lutheran

WALNUT — "Help for the Handicapped" will be the 10:30 a.m. sermon theme Sunday of the Rev. Ben T. Bauer Sunday at the Christ the King Lutheran Church.

The pastor will also lead a discussion in the Bible study class at 9:15 a.m.

Members of the Youth League will meet at 6:30 p.m. at the church.

La Verne First Baptist

LA VERNE — The Rev. Blake Westmoreland, pastor of the First Baptist Church here, will preach on the topic: "The Saviour Which Cannot Be Hid" during the 11 a.m. worship service Sunday.

The choir, directed by John Shelton, will sing "Jacob's Ladder" and Lois Shelton will sing a solo number.

A baptismal service will be held at 7 p.m., with the pastor speaking on the topic: "Christina Baptism." The youth choir will sing "Goodby Old World, Goodby."

L.V. Heights Presbyterian

LA VERNE — "As the Twig Is Bent" is the sermon topic of the Rev. John R. Springer Sunday at the 9:30 a.m. worship service at the La Verne Heights Presbyterian Church.

High school young people will report on a recent back packing conference in Yosemite. The group was led by Mark Schiewe, youth director.

Westmont United Methodist

POMONA — The Rev. Thomas D. Dillard will discuss "Of What Are You Afraid?" Sunday at the 10:30 a.m. worship service at the Westmont United Methodist Church.

Second grade students will receive Bibles during promotion ceremonies at the 9:15 a.m. church school program.

South Hills United Presbyterian

POMONA — Dr. G. Merrill Lenox will speak Sunday at the 10 a.m. worship service at the South Hills United Presbyterian Church.

His topic will be"A Man Stood Up."

Dr. Lenox is executive director of the Pomona Valley Council of Churches.

Covenant United Methodist

POMONA — The Rev. Quincy Hamilton returns to the pulpit of the Covenant United Methodist Church Sunday after a vacation.

He will speak at the 11 a.m. worship service on the topic "The Lord Is."

Mt. Calvary Lutheran

DIAMOND BAR — The Rev. John Watkins will speak on the sermon theme "Something Worth Living For" Sunday at the 10:15 a.m. service at Mt. Calvary Lutheran Church.

The congregation meets at the Golden Springs School.

Aid-to-blind leader to speak in La Verne

LA VERNE A world recognized leader in helping the blind will speak twice in La Verne on Tuesday. Dr. Isabelle L. D. Grant will speak at the La Verne United Methodist Church at 9:30 a.m. and at the La Verne Church of the Brethren at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. Grant is coming to La Verne as a guest of a former teaching associate, Mrs. Lois Mueller. Both women taught in San Pedro before Dr. Grant became blind in 1948.

Dr. Grant's work in behalf of blind people has taken her into 66 countries where she has consulted with school personnel and blind individuals. She helped set up seminar for teachers of blind children. She stimulated and helped organize blind persons so that they could handle life with self determination. She established Braille libraries and the Institue, and founded and edited its international magazine.

Dr. Grant has been honored by governments and organizations. Emperor Haile Sallasie of Ethiopia presented her with a gold medallion struck in her honor. She was nominated for the Nobel Peace Prize in 1972, but no peace award was made that year in protest over the Vietnam war.

Both of the local meetings to which she will be speaking are open to the public.

Topic is on Hawaii

CLAREMONT — Dr. Leslie Sayre will speak at 9:30 a.m. Sunday at the Claremont Manor Forum on the subject "Hawaii Calls."

Dr. Syare has just returned from Hawaii where he served for six months as the interim pastor of the Maui United Methodist Church.

His talk will be illustrated with slides.

He is a retired Methodist minister who served as executive secretary for World Literacy and Christian Literature before his retirement.

Pomona young people spend time at mission

Woman dedicates life to helping Indian children

(Editors note: Craig Travis, a sports writer for the Pomona Progress-Bulletin, shares his recent experiences with a group of young people from the Lincoln Avenue Reformed Church of Pomona who helped a missionary school in Gallup, N.M.)

By CRAIG TRAVIS
P-B Staff Writer

GALLUP, N.M. — There's nothing as beautiful as a baby asleep. A peaceful slumber where you imagine her dreaming of teddy bears, dancing dolls, playing on swings or slides, or just running about with friends.

But what if that slumber is interrupted by a hacking cough, or a hissing sound in her breathing, or waking up crying from fear and cold?

How relaxed can a 2-year-old child get when her little body aches because her stomach muscles have tightened so badly from a lack of food? Or, when dreams become nightmares, night after night, which become reality? Or, when this same child is taken better care of by her four brothers and sisters, who range from age 3 to 10, than by her parents?

Carol is only 2. She doesn't know why she's hungry, sick or why she isn't held very often. She has two brothers, Francis, 10, and Eugene, 7, and two sisters named Veronica, 8, and Sherry, 3.

Last Thursday evening her mother gave birth to another baby. Another baby that might get even a lesser amount of love than Carol gets.

The children have no real father. Three of them are illegitimate. Carol along with her brothers and sisters are part Zuni, Navajo and Apache.

Even more heartbreaking is the fact that this isn't an isolated case. On the contrary, this is an average case. Most of these Indian children, not only in Gallup but on reservations throughout the United States, are forced to grow up this way. And not by choice.

It's not uncommon to see a family with five or six children. Nor is it uncommon to see those same kids grow up without the healthy and loving influence of their parents.

Imagine the worst possible living conditions in this vicinity. Then imagine something worse and you have the conditions on the reservations. Their houses are shanties in the true sense of the word. The wooden floors are splintered or rotted and the kids' faces are marked from rat bites.

Jesus taught that we should, "Love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, with all thy soul and with all thy might, and to love our neighbors as much as ourselves."

In dedication of her life one person has made this vow.

This Christian servant is Ruby Peery, 66.

"Aunt Ruby," as she is affectionately known by her children, has served as doctor, nurse, mother, father, teacher and inspiration to the children as well as the adults for five years.

This remarkable woman gives 24 hours a day, seven days a week, of herself to the people of the Zuni, Navajo and Apache tribes that reside in Gallup or the surrounding reservations. And she does it with very little financial support.

Some years back, when she owned and operated a very successful photography studio, her husband left her, taking with him all the things that make up a business, such as cameras, lenses and money and leaving her with nothing but a broken heart.

She picked herself up, rededicated her life to the Lord, discarded all the material necessities of living and began her service to her God.

Approximately 10 years ago, feeling as though she wasn't doing enough already, Ruby went back to college to become a registered nurse (at age 54) in order to help stop or curtail some of the illnesses that plague the Indians. (And she made the dean's list.)

Three days a week she opens up her doors to the children. Her home is the CIML (Christ in My Life) Missionary School in Gallup, N.M.

Thursday is Good News Club Day in which the kids come to learn how to make crafts using paints and crepe paper. The older boys (9 through 14) make things out of wood.

Friday is Recreation Day where the kids learn to play games together, learn to share their toys and learn about the power of prayer as Ruby has.

Sunday the kids come for Bible or Sunday school lessons.

A group of nine young people from Lincoln Avenue Reformed Church in Pomona were led by the meaning of those letters — CIML — to spend a week of their summer vacations to assisting, working and playing with the children from the Gallup vicinity who attend Bible studies at the mission.

Three of the nine youths, Karen Bono, 16 of La Verne, Gail Zwart, 16 of Upland, and Caroline Bensema, 20 of Cucamonga, painted the inside of the mission, cooked and helped conduct vacation Bible school classes for kids ranging from primary to junior high age.

The guys; Jerry Keys, 19 of Rowland Heights, Rich Katze, 18 of Chino, Mark Braden, 18 of Pomona, Tommy Cornfield, 17 of Pomona, Mike Medeiros, 15 of Montclair and myself, constructed a porch, panelled walls, hung doors, installed a swamp cooler, and built chalkboards.

All nine agreed the trip was the most memorable experience of their lives.

"I learned a lot both spiritually and mentally," said Gail. "I really felt sorry for the kids . . . no parents to take care of them or warm beds to go to at night. I feel blessed by God that I have parents who love me and a nice home that I can come home to when I want to."

Karen added, "I feel my experience in Gallup proved to be of God's leading, showing me all the things that I take for granted in life. I thank God for the opportunity to have a nice family and home and to serve Him in any way I could in New Mexico."

"It was a growing experience for me," chimed in Mark. "It brought me closer to God enabling me to realize the great miracles He can do."

Of course "Aunt Ruby" touched all of our hearts.

"I am really impressed with all of what Aunt Ruby is doing for the Indian children. She helps feed and clothe them as well as teaching them about God," said Caroline. "I wish there were more people like her."

Mike summed up all our feelings about the work we did when he said, "It was worthwhile knowing that we did at least some little thing for them. And we are all determined to return."

Perhaps the best summary statement of the entire trip was contributed by Tommy when he said, "After going to New Mexico and seeing the conditions there, I appreciated even more what God has given me. And I feel that if one feels led to this that one should go into a mission field because these kids are willing to be taught about God. But you know we don't have to go clear to Gallup to serve. There are enough people that need help right here in our own back yard."

Please believe me those children need the same love, protection, guidance and attention that you'd give your own kids. My experience lasted only four short days but in 24 years of living selfishly, I never thought about how an individual falls in love with someone or something. Or even how to give God's love in return.

The nine of us are sending presents and contributions at Christmas time with hopes that the spirit of Christmas will last longer than the day of Dec. 25 and especially that the true meaning of Christmas will fill our hearts and cause some action.

Any support or suggestions others might have would be greatly appreciated. They can write to: The Garage, in care of Lincoln Avenue Reformed Church, 1157 Indian Hill Blvd., Pomona, 91767.

First Baptist has 'round-up' of members

CHINO — Members of the First Baptist Church will hold a "round-up" Sunday where members will be asked to invite those absent during the summer to Sunday school.

The program starts at 9:30 a.m. with members meeting in their classrooms. They will later move to the sanctuary where prizes will be given to a boy and girl wearing the best western costumes. There will also be awards for Sunday school attendance and Bibles will be presented those promoted into the junior department.

In keeping with the Sunday school program, the Rev. A. Thomas Gibbony, pastor, will speak at the 11 a.m. worship service on the theme, "The Last Round Up."

The service will end with Communion, serviced by the board of deacons and led by the pastor.

Mr. Gibbony will also preach during the 6 p.m. service. After the service, members of the Youth Fellowship will meet at 7:15 p.m. in the youth center.

Hemet speaker is guest at Camp Farthest Out

CLAREMONT — Dr. Evarts G. Loomis of Hemet will be the guest speaker at tonight's meeting of the Pomona Valley Camp Farthest Out in the East Lounge of the Claremont Manor.

His topic for his 7 p.m. talk will be "Medicine of the Whole Man."

A favorite dish supper will be held at 5:30 p.m. A meditation and payer circle will begin at 6:30 led by Miss Mildred Long of La Verne. Mrs. Ruth Fiske and Mrs. Elizabeth Van Arnam will lead the singspiration.

Miss Jane Wingard of La Verne will be chairman. Persons needing transportation should contact Mrs. Jesse Hillier at 624-8292.

Brethren opens fall schedule

LA VERNE — A 9:15 a.m. coffee and fellowship hour will open the fall schedule at the La Verne Church of the Brethren Sunday.

Church school classes will reconvene at 9:45 a.m. after a summer recess. In addition to regular class discussions there will be three interest groups, Drama, Jesus and Logotherapy and a Christian Life Style.

The morning worship service will return to 11 a.m. The Rev. Leland Wilson has prepared a worship service around the theme, "Can We Say, 'Life is Good, Yea'?" It will be a reflection on that refrain which was sung by Ted Studebaker, a volunteer in Vietnam who was killed shortly after the recording was made. It will be played during the service.

DR. DONALD RHOADES

Professor of religion is speaker

DIAMOND BAR —Dr. Donald H. Rhoades, professor of religion at the Claremont School of Theology, will be a guest speaker Sunday at 10 a.m. at the Diamond Bar Congregational Church.

He will address the Adult Study Forum. His topic will be "Relative Morality."

His talk will bring insight into the present breakdown of moral values in the nation, according to Maurey Varney, president of the congregation.

Dr. James L. Watson, pastor, will begin a series of sermons on the book of Exodus Sunday at the 11 a.m. worship service. His theme for the service will be "Man and His Burning Bush."

DAVID PURKEY

La Verne man joins crusade

LA VERNE — David Purkey of La Verne has joined the staff of Campus Crusade for Chirst International.

He and his wife, Sharon, who reside at 738 Ghent St., recently completed three weeks of training at Purdue University in Lafayette, Ind. Purkey previously attended UC Davis and was a swimming pool technician.

In his new position, Purkey will help conduct training for other laymen in the San Gabriel Valley. He will coordinate and teach week-long seminar programs on how persons can coomunicate their faith effectively to others.

Campus Crusade for Christ is an interdenominational Christian movement of students and laymen who united to help change the world by introducing others to the message of Christ.

Founded in 1951 at UCLA by Bill and Vonette Bright, the organization has since grown to a staff of more than 4,000 persons in 61 countries.

DON'T BE SO MODEST!

Brag a little...

You can't afford to be modest. After all, you're in business to sell. You have to tell buyers what you have to offer, why it pays them to do business with you, why you and your service and prices and products and sales policies are best.
The most economically effective way you can brag to your prospective customers is with a display advertisement in the Progress Bulletin.

Horses are his business

By LANGE WINCKLER
P-B Staff Writer

He's a real railbird, a camp follower who lives, breathes, and sleeps around stables, the kind of guy who walks across a racetrack and picks up the tiny bits of debris as he goes: Bad for the horses if they should step on that stuff.

But Sid Williams is not the tout sheet tipster who makes a living off cuts from a weathier bettor's success, or a shaky clerk who can't concentrate on his work when fillies are flying where the turf meets the surf. Horses ARE Sid Williams' business, and they have been since he was born.

Son of one of the earliest horse breeders in the State of Washington and a professional jockey before he began puberty, Williams today is the superintendent of stables at the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds here. Not only today is he in charge, he'll tell you, not only during the fair — Williams runs the stables and supervises training of horses the year around. He's been in charge there for 15 years.

This year he expects to see around 1,000 horses stabled at the fairgrounds for the races, which start opening day, Sept. 14. Most of them are being trucked in this weekend, a prospect he does not view with comfort. "There'll be a line of people in this office a mile long."

They line up in there anyway. "I'm supposed to have 7-to-5 hours," Williams said, "but there's folks here before dawn and they keep on coming long after dark."

All manner of horsemen pass through Williams' office, all wanting to stable their animals. During race season, far more want space than he has available, and it is part of his job to screen potential entries. "It's for the protection of the public," he says of rules preventing entry of horses that have not shown well in other races, or that have not worked out within at least a month.

But the horsemen he turns away are not so happy about the whole idea. Williams tells of animals brought to the grounds that he turns away when he sees them walk. They are not healthy, often, and their trainers or owners get very insulted when Williams says, "Put it back in the trailer and leave."

Another part of his work involves trainers and exercise boys. From October through July both licensed trainers and those hoping to earn their licenses work out yearlings at the grounds, breaking them to saddle and putting in around 120 days' worth preparation for racing.

He supervises stabling of animals wintering at the grounds and those brought in for shows scheduled year-round at the Carnation Ring. At some times, there are 400 plus horses under his weathered eye besides the 200 to 300 animals stabled for training.

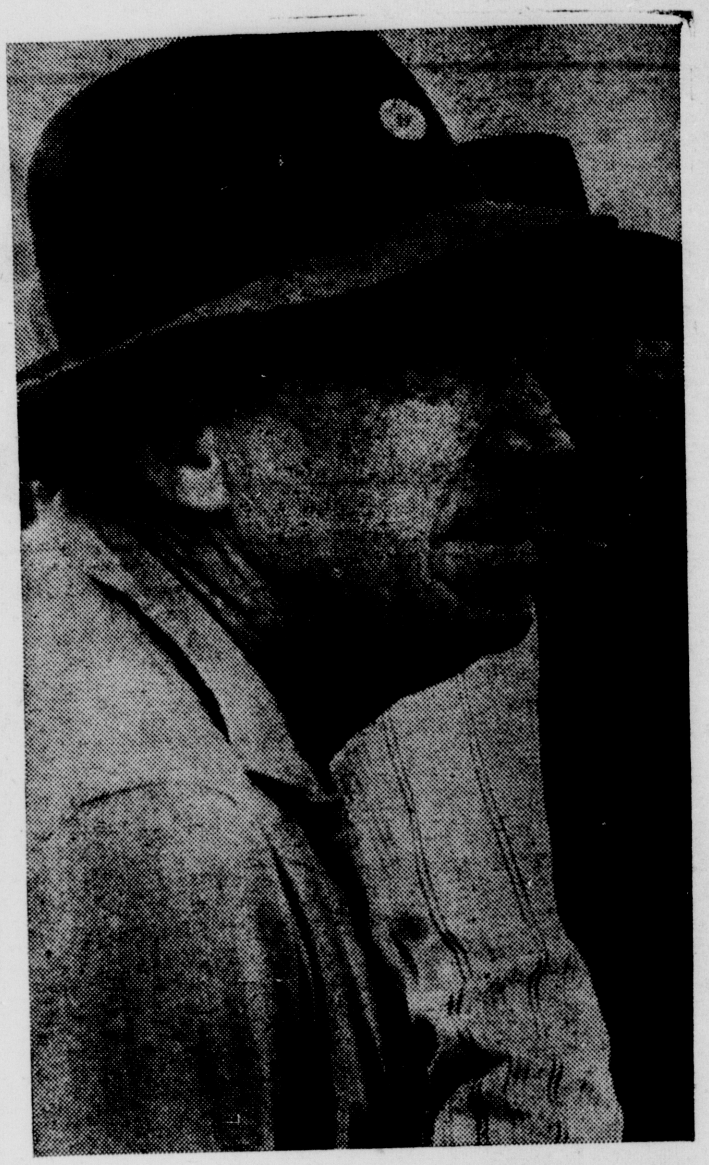

His wife Clara is the track trainer, as well as the person in charge of the string of the Williams' own racehorses. Presently she is wrapped up in races at the state fairgrounds in Sacramento, while the two of them were working races together in the early summer at Bay Meadows, near San Francisco, and at the San Joaquin County Fairgrounds in Stockton. Clara is the stable superintendent at the Stockton grounds.

Their own horses are kept on a small breeding farm in Walnut, where they have 10 brood mares, a couple of weanlings, and three yearlings beside those already in harness. When asked about which of his own have made good showings, he mentioned "Real Encounter," which Tuesday came in second in Sacramento. "He's won four races," Williams said ruefully, "but recently he's been coming in second and third."

Williams, 60, is a pre-medical graduate of Stanford University. He tosses off any conversation about his schooling with the remark, "You meet people from all walks of life around a racetrack." But he got his education as part of his riding contract with another Washington breeder, George Drumheller, for whom he began riding when he was 13.

"Oh, I rode match races when I was 9," he said in reply to a pair of raised eyebrows. "But I didn't get into the serious stuff until later. And I had to quit when I got too big."

Williams is a man with a steel trap for a mouth — he doesn't like to talk about himself. But he's voluble in greetings to the stream of trainers, grooms, stable hands, riders, and others who stream through his office (which has an apartment in the back where he lives most of the time). And when there's a dog or cat around he delights in talking with it, enjoying instant rapport.

He has time for greetings, now, and even a chat with a reporter — but this weekend, Sid Williams is going to be a busy man.

Women tab Riggs 'man of year'

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) —Females Opposed to Equality (FOE), a loosely knit organization that lobbied last year against women's equality laws, named Bobby Riggs recently its man of the year.

The organization said it hoped Riggs "mercilessly defeats" Billie Jean King in their upcoming "Battle of the Sexes" tennis match.

Babs Minhinnette, FOE chairman, said Riggs won the Man of the Year award for his "manly bravery in speaking out against the disgustingly perverted, misanthropic, hormonally imbalanced women's lib harridans and female sex traitors who masquerade as women."

She said no matter how the King-Riggs match turns out, Riggs will remain "a winner in the eyes of our members and all true women."

Take home new fish after careful study

By DR. FRANK MILLER

DEAR DR. MILLER: The last time I swapped fish (tropical) I not only lost the fish I traded for, which were sick when I got them, but lost some of my other fish, too. I've got a chance again to trade for some more fish but how can I tell this time that they are healthy? —D.S.

Dear D.S.: Observe the fish in its familiar surroundings to see that it is alert and swims normally. Have is fed so that you can determine that it has a good appetite. Its coloring should be natural for the species and the lighting present. The fins and the tail should be spread out in a normal manner. Its skin should be smooth and glistening. If these proposed fishy acquisitions look completely healthy, they should, even so, be transferred to a to-your-home holding tank for a week or so. During this period observe them closely for any signs of trouble. Obviously, they shouldn't be put in with your other fish unless they pass this quarantine period with flying colors — and fins.

DEAR DR. MILLER: It's Lancelot, our canary, I am writing about. He hasn't been his usual handsome self lately. In fact, he looks downright scraggly. Still, he doesn't eat like a bird — more like a horse, actually. He seems to feel just great. He sings less now than he used to, though. In fact, lately hardly at all. His diet is good. What do you think? Is there some kind of a pick-me-up shot that would help him? He is not a spring chicken, exactly, but he is still only half as old as some canaries I have had. —P.Y.

Dear P.Y.: Your frowzy feathered friend could be the victim of environmental influences; i.e., incorrect temperature, humidity, or quite possibly, abnormal lighting conditions. The poor plumage picture frequently results because hormonal imbalance is a basic problem. Replacement hormone therapy, particularly with testosterone, is often helpful. This male hormone might have a rejuvenating effect on Lancelot's languid larynx among other things.

DEAR DR. MILLER: I don't want a big long explanation on this, all I want to know is, is it really true that different breeds of dogs may develop different behavior problems? In other words, are some breeds more likely to develop some bad habits than other breeds? —H.W.

Dear H.W.: Yes.

RCA
CLIFF KING Says:

On Monday evenings, when the fourth or fifth pro-football game is being broadcast over a period of two or three days, some movie theaters advertise "NFL Night." This does not mean National Football League, as you might suppose, but "night for ladies" and female-oriented pictures are featured.

Some women will just never adjust to all the football on the tube in the fall. They feel neglected and they resent the sport that so preoccupies their husbands. One doctor advises the gals to get hooked on the TV football habit, right along with their hubbies, in the interest of marital harmony.

It's easier for any gal to enjoy TV football if she can watch the action on a gorgeous, true-to-life color TV set by RCA. RCA has always been the leader. You get the latest, most desired engineering improvements with RCA. Come in and let us quote you our low, competitive prices . . . you'll be glad you did.

Pure, rich and ample

Lee Streicher, water purification engineer, looks over the basins at the Weymouth plant.

LA VERNE — When you turn on the faucet of your kitchen or bathroom you are greeted with a freshet of pure, mineral-rich water that has traveled perhaps a thousand miles from the Rockey Mountains of Colorado and Utah, down the winding Colorado River to Lake Havasu, and from there, by pumps, conduits, aqueducts and tunnels to your home.

Providing for the thirsty needs of six Southern California counties with more than 10 million people (over half the population of the state) is the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California, a public and municipal corporation formed almost 50 years ago to meet the industrial, agricultural and domestic demand for water.

In 1961, MWD completed the $500 million Colorado River Aqueduct, which today carries more than a billion gallons of water a day from the Colorado River across 242 miles of mountains and deserts to parched cities and agencies in Southern California. (Among the members are the Pomona Valley Municipal Water District, the Chino Basin Municipal Water District and the Upper San Gabriel Valley Municipal Water District.)

The most visible local installation of the vast water network — as well as one of the earliest and most important — is the F. E. Weymouth Memorial Softening and Filtration Plant, a sprawling 130-acre complex of buildings, warehouses, tanks and reservoirs on N. Moreno Avenue.

The administration building on the Weymouth plant is a handsome, ornamented structure towering like a latter-day Alhambra above the fields and groves of north La Verne. With its tile roofing, colorful mosaics, fountains and gardens, the structure resembles a college building more than a vital link in Southern California's chief water system.

All of the water used by the people of the Pomona Valley to take showers, brush their teeth, water their lawns and wash their cars has passed through the filters, conduits, mixing tanks and settling basins of the Weymouth plant. When it opened in 1941, the plant had a capacity of 100 million gallons per day. Today it treats 400 million gallons a day.

After its journey down the Colorado River, along the aqueduct to Lake Mathews and subsequently to La Verne, the water is chlorinated, other necessary chemicals are added as needed, and sediment settles to the bottom of the tanks. The clarified water is drawn off over skimming weirs, chlorinated again and a portion passed through ion exchange softeners, where hardness is completely removed. The unsoftened portion is then mixed with the softened water and chlorinated a third time. Hardness in the final product has been reduced from 350 to 125 parts per million.

With much of the country suffering from lack of water and with pollution a matter of growing concern throughout the nation, local residents will be happy to know that the local water picture is extremely favorable, according to Lee Streicher, water purification engineer at the Weymouth plant.

"Colorado River water is very good from a biological standpoint," he said in a recent interview. "The aqueduct is closed to recreational use and is therefore protected from human contamination. The mineral content of 730-750 parts per million is considered good quality water."

Prospects for the continued ample supply of water for the future are excellent, Streicher said, because of the opening of the California Aqueduct — the $2.8 billion project that has recently begun bringing to MWD water from the Feather and Sacramento rivers in Northern California.

"Because of the state water now available, we believe we have enough water to meet our needs until the year 2020," Streicher said. "Earlier, when the Southern California population growth was more rapid, we thought our supply would be good only until 1990. We now have 20 to 30 years of breathing space before we have to look for an additional supply."

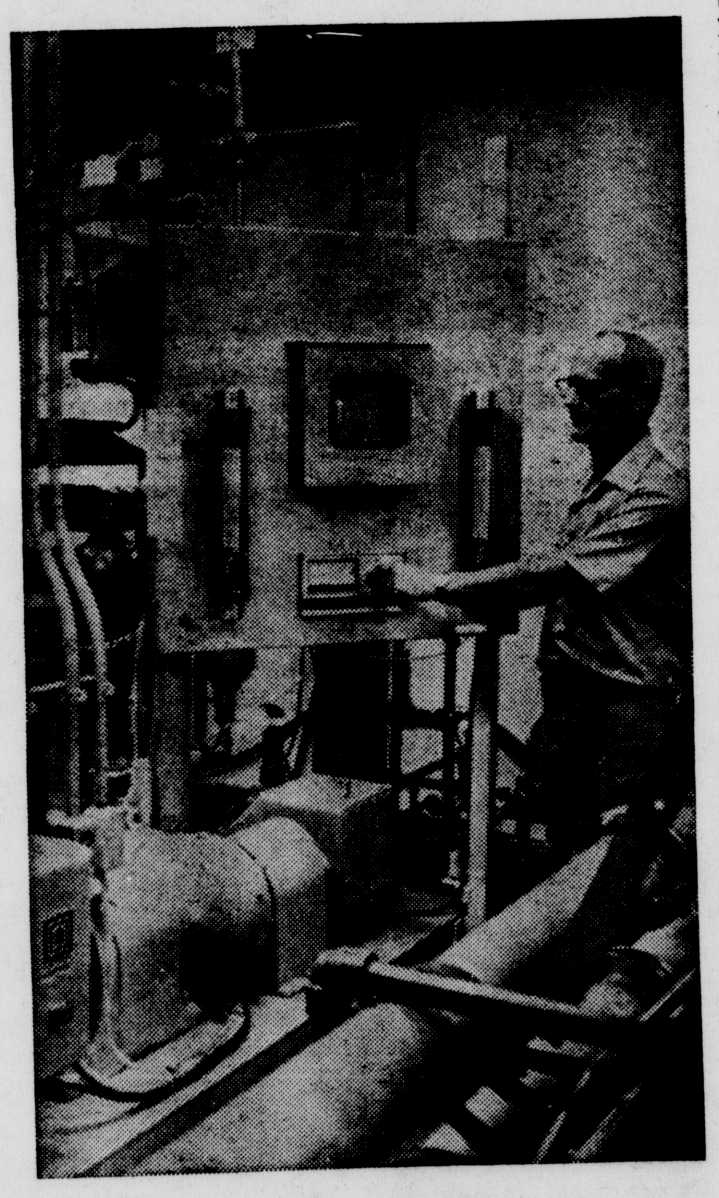

Weymouth, in the next few years, will be blending Northern California and Colorado River water on a 50-50 basis, but it will later change to 75 per cent of state water to 25 from the Colorado.

The $26 million Weymouth plant is one of three now operating in the MWD system. The others are Diemer in Orange County and Jensen in the San Fernando Valley. A fourth is under construction near Temecula, and a Riverside plant is on the drawing boards.

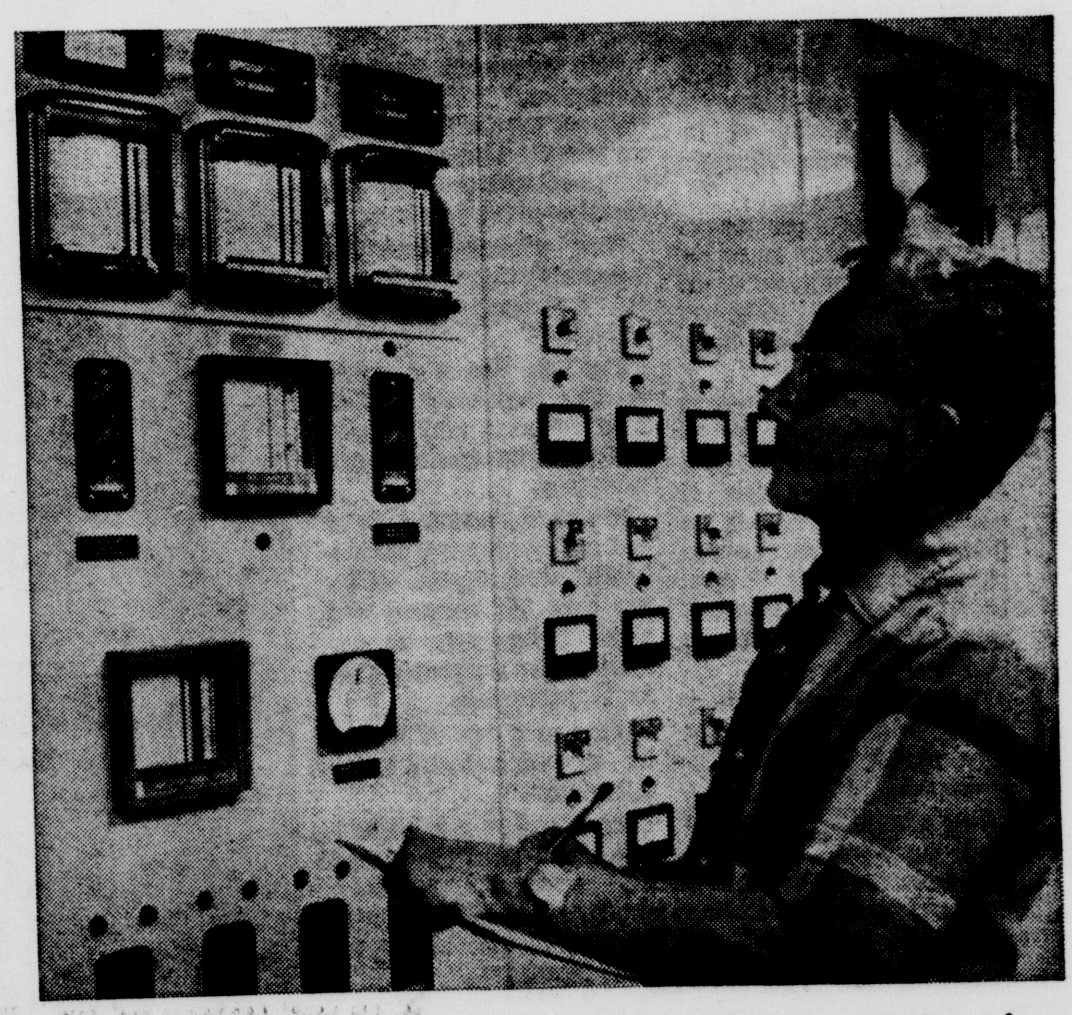

Thanks to the foresight of thousands of water experts, chemists and engineers such as F. E. Weymouth (1874-1941), chief engineer and general manager of MWD, the water supply of Southern California will be pure, rich and in amply supply for many years to come.

ON THE COVER

The administration building of the F. E. Weymouth Memorial Softening and Filtration Plant in north La Verne, looks more like a college hall than the nerve-center of a water processing plant. The installation of the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California supplies more than one billion gallons of water a day to Southern California cities.

Harold Sundberg, MWD research chemist, operates a conductivity transmitter at the Weymouth plant.

Systems operator Selwyn Eagle checks the flow through the softener unit in the control room of the plant.

BUSY STORE — Pomona Motor Parts, Inc., is made up of seven stores throughout the Pomona and eastern San Gabriel Valleys. The main store is in Pomona

Pomona Auto Parts is growing strong

By PAUL HILL
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — Pomona Motor Parts, Inc. is much more than meets the eye.

Begun as a one-store operation here in September 1937, the company has steadily grown, and today it conducts operations in seven stores throughout the Pomona and eastern San Gabriel valleys.

In addition to the main store here at 282 N. Park Ave., there are shops in Azusa, Covina, City of Industry, La Verne, Monrovia and Ontario.

"The nature of our company's business is to serve the automotive needs of the area," says Bill Wilkinson, who has been president of the firm since 1963.

Most of the corporation's business is wholesale, Wilkinson says. It is conducted by a 45-man sales force, four of whom spend their time in the field calling on service stations, garages, car dealers, body shops and industries within the 30-square-mile trading area.

Free pickup and delivery service is also provided for these regular customers, Wilkinson said.

The corporation purchases from more than 150 major manufacturers of automotive parts and equipment, stocking over 40,000 individual items from these manufacturers.

Wilkinson describes the company as "hard parts" oriented, specializing in replacement of engine and chassis parts for all passenger cars, both domestic and foreign, and light trucks.

But he adds that his firm is more than just interested in selling parts. It is also concerned with the customer and any automotive problems he may experience.

"We guarantee customer satisfaction," Wilkinson says. "We not only sell the parts, we take the time to help our customers with problems they experience with their cars.

"Our salesmen have the technical background to help the customers with their problems."

The firm has a complete machine shop which enables it to do press work, engine boring, engine rebuilding and valve jobs.

It also maintains a paint and supply inventory for automobile body repair. Wilkinson says his company can match factory color or any special color a person desires for his automobile.

"Give us a copy of the color you need, and we'll match it," he says.

His firm does a brisk business with paint companies and car dealers, and one-quarter of the total volume of business is handled by the paint department.

The Pomona store, which also houses the corporate headquarters, is the largest of the seven stores. It has nearly 10,000 square feet of space, allowing the firm to stock more and have a larger equipment display area.

It has $120,000 worth of inventory, which is almost one-third of the company's total sum.

Earl Zemlicka is the Pomona store manager, and he is also general manager of the corporation.

FINDING THE RIGHT PART — Company president Bill Wilkinson pages through the stock inventory to find an automobile part desired by a customer. The company has over 40,000 automotive items

Explosive book attacks idea of equal education

By NICHOLAS POLOS

I.Q. IN THE MERITOCRACY by R. J. Herrnstein. Atlantic-Little, Brown. $7.95.

Broad and deeply rooted conflict is umfolding in the United States in regard to the meaning of equality but this is not new. Ever since the "self-evident" concept was pronounced in Thomas Jefferson's political masterpiece the fight has raged over this ideal.

Herrnstein's complex book adds more wood to this fire. The book grew out of an article entitled "I.Q.," published in the Atlantic Monthly magazine in September, 1971.

This is a difficult book and one needs to have a background in the jargon and semantics of statistics.

In essence what Prof. Herrnstein is arguing here is that the concept that every child have an equal chance for success will in fact only result in progress toward a hereditary "Meritocracy."

Stripped of all of its educational measurement mumbo-jumbo the argument is simple. The author contends that "as environmental influences (education, for example) become more similar for everyone, they come to matter less than inherited characteristics."

He is insisting that intelligence is largely inherited, and drawing on a large body of evidence which he carefully documents both in extensive chapter notes and a first-rate bibiliography he proceeds to develop his basic theory.

Basic to the Herrnstein position is that the I..Q test which is primarily determined by dividing the chronological age by the mental age of the child is an effective predictor of success.

His basic premise is that a high I.Q., is a necessary prerequisite for the high-status occupations in our society.

Consequently, he concludes that "social mobility tends toward social rigidity, with certain able families perpetually at the top, and certain dull ones at the bottom."

Naturally, a conclusion like this is not calculated to have the author elected to any Hall of Fame of Popularity, and as happened to Dr. Arthur Jensen, the liberal and radical intellectual bees have been swarming all over him.

Harvard's Dr. Daniel Bell, a widely known sociologist, offers this view of what is going on today: "What is at stake today is the redefinition of equality . . . This is what Herrnstein has attempted to do. However, the shrill and strident cries of those who oppose his conclusions have drowned out his ultimate conclusion which may have some validity."

As an extrapolation from his extensive data the author insists that a "false belief in human equality, leads to rigid, inflexible expectations, often doomed to frustration, thence to anger . . ."

He then makes a strong plea for changes in our educational institutions to smash the procrustean grave which they have built over the years and educate each child according to his capabilities.

In other words he is calling for a tailored education which is a theme song sung by many educator-philosophers in the past.

Whether one agrees with Prof. Herrnstein or not is not the major issue at hand here. His book is worth the strong effort since it raises several vital issues whose present veracity is now in the "twilight zone."

True, his conclusions are explosive and have far reaching ramifications for all Americans. Dr. Hannah Arendt, a political philosopher and a student of violence, insists that the "losers" in any society will be just as explosive material as "when ruling class was based on blood lines or inherited wealth."

Her argument which goes a step further than Herrnstein's theory is expounded in this unique but explosive book is that the resentment against meritocracy based on brains will be just as violent and explosive as the resentment of earlier oppressed groups and had been judged by other standards.

If you can disengage yourself from your political or thodoxy remembering that every dogma has its day then you will find this book to be a fascinating adventure.

(Nicholas C. Polos is associate professor of history at La Verne College.)

Tale of love, intrigue continued by author

By MARTIE LISOWSKI

SHOULDER THE SKY by D.E. Stevenson. Holt, Rinehard & Winston, $5.95.

In this book Mrs Stevenson continues the story of the people in Mureth, a town located in the sheep-raising area of Scotland. She solves a mystery created in a prior book, "Music in the Hills," and manages to bring the various strands of her story to a happy conclusion.

The main characters in this story are James Dering Johnstone and his bride, Rhoda. They set up housekeeping at Boscath Farm, a wedding present from their adopted parents, Jock and Mamie Johnstone.

All would be well, except thata the farm is in a remote, precariously accessible section of a series of rounded hills. During good weather, the occupants can wade across the river to the side where the Johnstones live. But, during winter, the occupants are virtually isolated. However, the newlyweds, busy with establishing a sheep farm, are more concerned with proper surroundings for the sheep than for their own welfare.

Rhoda, an artisit who had given up a promising career in London, continues her painting and does portraits of many of the people whom she meets when she ventures into town. Among them are Douglas Fairbanks Smith Dr. Henry Ogilvie Smith, and Nestor Heddle.

Rhoda discovers that Douglas has talent and that Dr. Ogilvie Smith originally wanted to be a painter. Because of his interest in the talent of 10-year-old Douglas, the doctor offers to finance Douglas's art education when he is older and ready for advanced training.

The mystery of who Douglas really is and his relationship to Dr. Ogilvie Smith and the purchase of Tassieknowe as the new home for James and Rhoda provide the reader with an intriguing story.

The title fo the book is taken from a poem by A. E. Housman, in the advice to "shoulder the sky" when called upon to bear troubles which can and must do.

Mrs. Stevenson, author of over 50 books, lives in Moffat, Drumfriesshire, Scotland. She aptly describes the countryside of her beloved land and has her characters speak with the vernacular of her area.

The reader, acquainted with the characters of Mureth and Drumburly from prior books, will look forward to reading about further events in their lives. Undoubtedly, there will be more books about them.

(Mrs. Martie Lisowski is in charge of curriculum library at Cal Poly State University.)

Controversial years recalled by statesman

By BRUCE MUNN

THE SOTRM HAS MANY EYES, A Personal Narrative, by Henry Cabot Lodge. Norton $7.50.

Quietly but effectively, Henry Cabot Lodge's career carried him into the eys of many storms—as senator, as drafter and campaign manager of President Eisenhower, for 7½ years U.N. ambassador, vice presidential candidate, twice ambassador to Vietnam, envoy to the Vatican and an Army buff who rose to general.

His personal narrative is more in cavalcade style than that of an autobiography. The Boston Brahmin writes with a facile touch uncommon to public figures that makes for easy reading that is both engrossing and informative.

Lodge chose to hit the high spots of his career and this leads one to wish he had gone into more intimate detail of his relationships with Eisenhower or with John F. Kennedy, the man who knocked him out of his Senate seat and went on to become the president, the man who sent him back to war in Vietnam—in diplomatic garb instead of olive drabs.

His faith and hope in the United Nations shines through, and some of his more memorable experiences there are outstandingly recounted, but space restrictions make him skimp.

Timely and most interesting is his rebuttal to allegations concerning his Vietnam role made in the Pentagon Papers.

Lodge wound up as a successful diplomat. The reader benefits even more perhaps because he writes as he did at the start of his career—as a perspicacious newspaperman.

THE CURSE OF THE KINGS, by Victoria Holt. Doubleday, $6.95.

Another chiller thriller by the master.

This latest book by Victoria Holt delves into archeology and takes the reader to the land of the Pharaohs.

Judith Osmond, who was raised by two maiden aunts in a quiet village vicarage, early acquires a deep interest in archeology.

Through a wealthy family in the village, with whose children she takes lessons, Judith is thrown into the company of an archeologist, son of another famous archeologist who has died under mysterious circumstances after exploring Egyptian tombs.

In her village, Judith had read the legend of the curse of the kings which will fall on anyone who distrubs the Pharaohs' tombs.

While archeology became a passion with Judith, a stronger love was that she felt for Tybalt Travers. She couldn't believe her good fortune when he asked her to marry him and accompany him on his next expedition.

With Judith and Tybalt on the expedition are a friend, Theodosia, and her husband, also an archeologist, a mysterious and beautiful young woman who had worked for the Travers family for years, and a young archeological student.

While the men are digging, the women explore the countryside and the town. They call frequently on a fortune teller, who amuses them with his predictions, some of them dire. They also become acquainted with a beautiful young girl who works in her family's leather shop.

But soon, strange things start happening and some of the predictions seem to be coming ture.

Then the girl in the leather shop disappears, Theodosia is killed in a fall at the digging site, Judith finds cause to question her husband's love, and finally Judith is locked in a tomb. In her panic, she stumbles on the secret that her father-in-law had discovered before his death.

All this is enough to keep a dedicated Victoria Holt fan glued to her (his?) seat.

ABC

"Afterschool Specials" — After winning both the Peabody and Emmy awards last season, this series returns with live action and animated shows. The hour-long specials are telecast on Wednesdays, twelve times a year.

The new weekend cartoons include:

"The Bugs Bunny Show"—The famous rabbit outwits his enemies.

"Yogi's Gang" — Yogi Bear takes his friends on a weekly comedy adventure to fight the enemies of nature.

"Super Friends"—An hour-long comedy adventure program about the four famous heroes—Superman, Batman, Wonderwoman and Aquaman.

"Lassie's Rescue Rangers" — Lassie returns in a cartoon series where she helps fight the enemies of the natural environment.

"Goober and the Ghost Chasers"—The story of a lovable dog who can become invisible.

"Mission: Magic"—Each week a magical school teacher, Miss Twinkle, takes her teenage friends to a different fantasy land.

"Grammar Rock"—a series of 3½ minute films on basic grammar is being added to the Scholastic Rock Series.

The Saturday morning line up returns "The Brady Kids" and "Superstar Movie."

The shows returning for the new season are: "Make a Wish," "Kid Power," "H. R. Pufnstuf," and "The Osmonds." They are shown on Sunday mornings.

CBS

Four new cartoon series, two of them based on the successful primetime comedy series, highlights the Saturday television schedule.

The four new series are:

"Bailey's Comets"—A group of teenage boys and girls share a love for roller skating.

"My Favorite Martians"—This is based on the television show about Martians who land on earth.

"Jeannie"—This series is based on the nighttime series, except this time the genie is a teenager who has magical powers.

"Speed Buggy"—The star of the show is a car called Speed Buggy; it acts like a St. Bernard dog.

The series returning for the season are: "The Children's Film Festival," "Fat Albert and the Cosby Kids," "The Flintstones," "The New Scooby-do Movies," "Josie and the Pussycats in Outer Space" and "The Everything's Archie Show." "In the News" will be broadcast eight times each Saturday. "What's It All About," specials about news events occurring at the time, are shown from time to time.

"Captain Kangaroo" returns with his daily program for young viewers.

NBC

NBC's Saturday morning fall lineup features seven new series.

"Inch High Private Eye"—The hero is only one inch high.

"The Addams Family"—This super-weird family tours the country in a haunted camper.

"Emergency + 4"—This is a cartoon version of the Saturday night adult series, "Emergency."

"Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kids"—The stars are a rock singer and his group.

"Star Trek"—The spaceship "Enterprise" is home base.

"Sigmund"—Live actors in colorful costumes tell the comedy-fantasy story about a sea monster.

"Go"—This is a new, live action series, designed to take you on real-life adventures. It is shot on location around this country and abroad.

"The shows returning to NBC include "Lidsville," "The Pink Panther," and "The Jetsons."

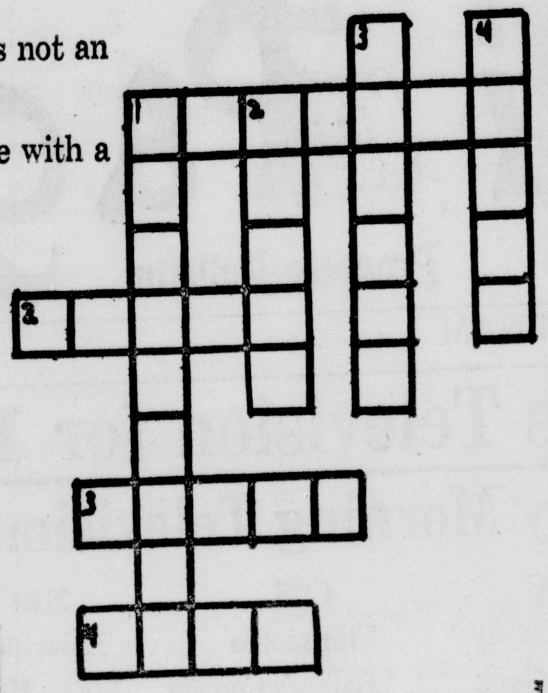

"The New Zoo Revue" returns to about 100 stations throughout the country.

Fred Rogers of the Mister Rogers' Neighborhood Show

What's New in Public Television for Kids

"Mister Rogers' Neighborhood" returns for its eighth season on Public Television. The host is Fred Rogers, a minister and an authority on child behavior. This year, the show continues to publish a monthly newspaper called "Around the Neighborhood." A poster and a record for children will be included with the issues from time to time. There will be 10 issues each year.

"Zoom" returns for its third season. It features the old ZOOMers — Lori, Edith, Neal and Danny, as well as three new ZOOMers — Michael, Donna and Timmy. The cast will be wearing brand new striped T-shirts. There will be more ZOOMraps, less doodles. More plays, Try-It-At-Home, games, barrels and ZOOM do's. More specials, ZOOM guests and ZOOM recipes.

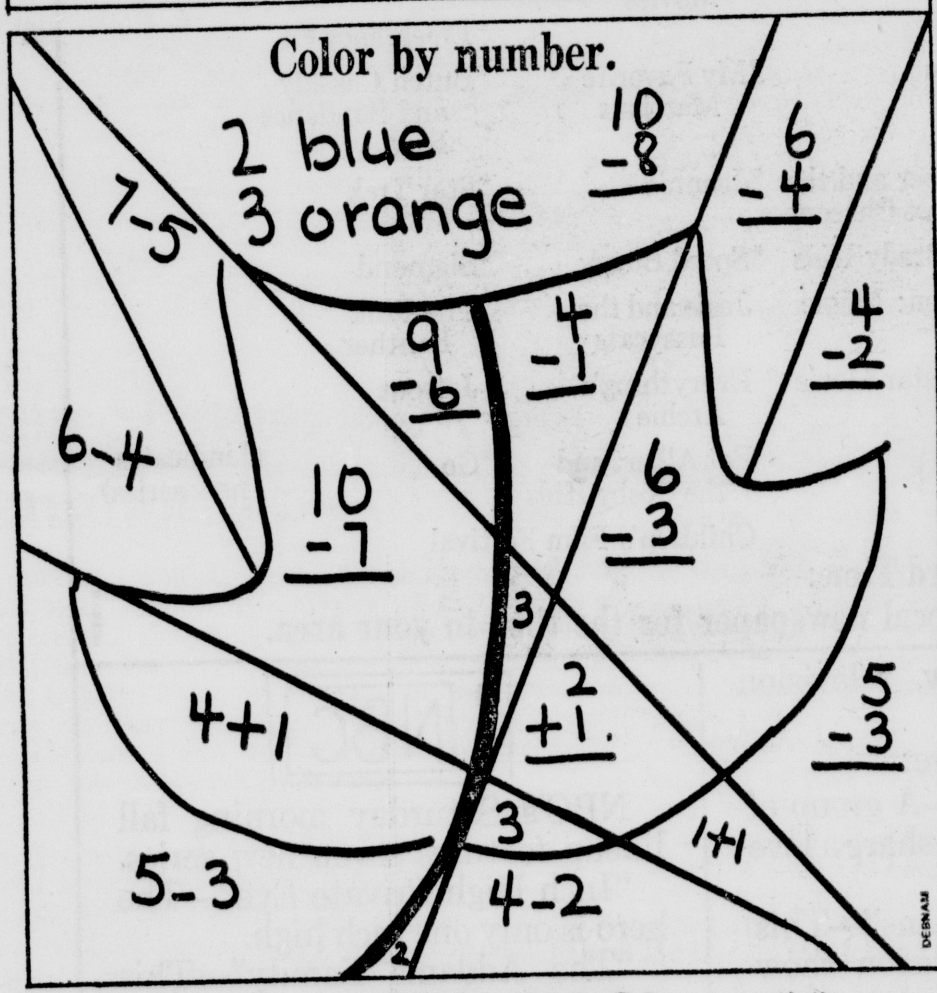

"Sesame Street" will begin its fifth year when it starts in November. The same cast of characters will be back again. Spanish words and phrases will continue to be an important part of the show.

Did you know that "Sesame Street" and "The Electric Company" have eight offices scattered throughout the country? The people in these offices work with teachers, parents and other interested adults in carrying out the educational aims of the show.

"The Electric Company" will return for the third year with much the same cast. This year, more meaningful material will be used. Children will be taught to read phrases rather than just one word at a time. "Love of Chair" is to return as part of the show. There are plans to begin an "Electric Company" magazine sometime in the future.

"Carrascolendas," a program for Spanish speaking children, will also return to stations in cities where there is a big Spanish speaking population.

Plans are also underway for another Spanish speaking program probably to be launched the first of next year.

John Brockington

Meet the Pros: Meet John Brockington

John Brockington is a 6-1, 225 running back for the Green Bay Packers. He was "Rookie of the Year" in 1971. He is the only player ever to gain over 1,000 yards in each of his first two pro seasons.

The biggest thrill of his career came when he was picked by his fellow players for the 1971 all pro team.

The player he admired most when he was growing up was Jimmy Brown, the running back for the Cleveland Browns.

John did not start playing football until he was in high school in Brooklyn, New York. While he was growing up, he played basketball and Little League baseball.

What advice would he give young players? "Don't set your sights too high. Enjoy yourself and try to do your best. Play each game one at a time."

John played college football for Ohio State where he was an All-American. He plans to play pro ball for 10 years. His hobby is raising quarter horses in Ohio.

"Still Life" was painted in 1890 by Paul Cezanne. It is from the Chester Dale Collection at the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C.

"Still Life" by Paul Cezanne

Paul Cezanne (pronounced Say-zahn), the most famous painter of the 1900's, is known as the father of modern art.

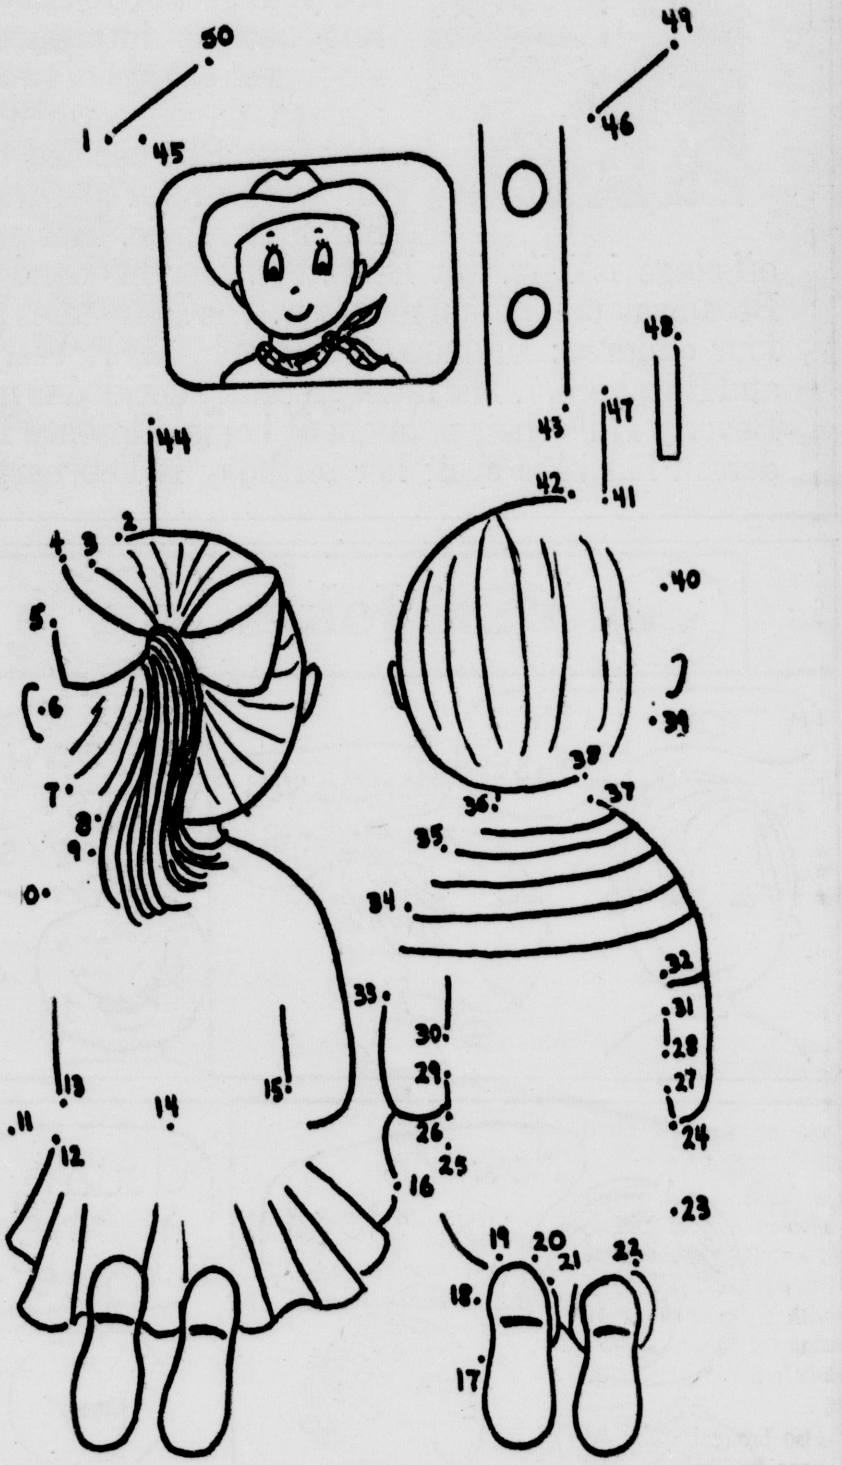

Still lifes are pictures of objects such as bottles and fruits arranged on a table. Cezanne often painted this kind of picture because he worked so slowly that most models could not sit still long enough for a portrait. He was very exacting in every stroke.

Cezanne was born in the south of France in 1839. He was the son of a rich banker. At age 22 he went to Paris. He was very sensitive and could not keep friends. He spent his last lonely years back in southern France. People did not think his work was any good. He would give paintings away. He would even let his son cut them into puzzles.

Finally, people began to buy his pictures. They even offered as much as 30 dollars for one of them. But fame came too late. Cezanne died in 1906 from a cold he caught while painting in the rain. Note the shapes in the painting. See the oval fruits. See the triangles in the table cloth.

Drill team tryouts scheduled at CHS

Tryouts for the Claremont High School drill team will be held Tuesday and Wednesday.

Training for girls interested in trying out has been going on this past week between 8 a.m. and noon at a drill team camp conducted at the school.

Fifteen drill team members between Aug. 5 and 9, attended a drill team camp at UC Santa Barbara. They returned with a trophy awarded for winning the most competition points in their 15-member category.

They also brought home 36 blue ribbons for their performances and 34 pink cards awarded for routines learned at camp.

The girls are Joie Bentley, drill team colonel; Mary Sue Huk, Karen Kays and Denise Yang, captains; Sue Gustin and Linda Rampershad, rank leaders, and Judy Devens, Requel Jacinto, Cindy Myers, Sue Rampershad, Kam Schisler, Adrienne Spanier, Ruth Spanier, Jenise Stewart and Julie Waldman.

Mary Sue Huk was voted first place winner in an all-camp drill down between 1100 girls.

During their stay at camp the girls lived in a campus dormitory. They were instructed by top drill team advisers in the nation.

PCHS has coeds from the Philippine Isles

By MARY SANCHEZ
Pomona Catholic High

For 1973-74 Pomona Catholic High School welcomes two exchange students from the Philippines. The students, Tess Arando of Makata and Emma Vazquez of Quezon City, will complete their last year of high school at PC.

The school that they attended in the Philippines was St. Joseph's which is also an all-girl school. They said they had taken 12 classes in one day including algebra, geometry, religion, economics, chemistry, P.E., music, English composition, Bilibino (the study of their language), and literature. Each class is 45 minutes long with the exception of all math which is two hours.

The schools in the Philippines have started a new program where each school year will begin in June and end in late March.

Miss Arando is living in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Lewandowski. Her plans include college and she said, "I'd like to work in the airlines as an executive secretary with a foreign major." She says that he would like it very much "because there is a lot of opportunity. You meet people and travel."

...ultiple sclerosis ...ause is not known

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Just ...at is multiple sclerosis, ...d how does it affect the ...dy? Is there any real help ...r it?

Dear Reader — This is a ...gh one to describe for you. ...can cause a wide variety of ...mptoms. The problem is lo...ted in the sheath that sur...unds nerve cells. This outer ...eath is essential to the nor...al function of the cell. In ...ultiple sclerosis this sheath ...generates, and the cell ...esn't function properly.

The cells affected are not ...l in one location in the ner...ous system. Multiple scle...osis can affect different ...pots of nerve cells in a pat...hy-like distribution. Many ...iseases of the nervous sys...m affect only specific ...ells. A brain tumor, for ex...mple, may affect cells in ...ne spot. Since the cells in...olved can be identified with ...particular body function, a ...od neurologist (Brain spe...ialist) can often fairly accu...ately locate the spot in...olved by the tumor. A stroke ...ay affect the tongue and ...swallowing mechanisms, ...which would mean that spe...ific areas of the brain are ...damaged, and the artery in...olved in the stroke can be ...dentified.

These nice systematic eva...uations are not always pos...ible in multiple sclerosis be...cause numerous unrelated areas of the brain may be involved. This, in itself, is one clue to the diagnosis.

Multiple sclerosis may cause problems with vision, speech, or muscle coordination affecting body movements. Weakness of the arms and legs is a common finding. Muscular weakness may progress to paralysis. When the lower legs are involved urinary complaints are common.

There are a number of factors which appear to precipitate some attacks, even including flu. But, there's no clear-cut identification of factors which may precipitate an attack.

The cause of multiple sclerosis is not known. A recent suggested cause is a small slow-acting virus that over a period of years, produces its effects. In my own medical career there have been multiple theories advanced for the cause of multiple sclerosis, and to date none have been established as the real cause for the disease.

It's difficult to evaluate the effectiveness of treatment because many patients have spontaneous remissions and get along well without any manifestation of any problem for long periods of time. The disease can be severely disabling, or it can be more of an intermittent inconvenience. There is no way to be certain how severe the disability is going to be, whether it is going to progress rapidly or not, and each case is different.

It's important for anyone who has such a problem to have continous careful medical supervision. A great deal can be done to help individuals with this problem, but I must also say that there are no specific cures. To show you some of the problems that the medical profession deals with in trying to tell you what to expect with this type of disease, the life expectancy varies from a few weeks to over 50 years after the problem has been diagnosed, and that's quite a long range.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of The Progress-Bulletin, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Both of the girls like it here very much. "It's very interesting, it's a new experience," said Miss Arando.

They each agreed that the freeways were very different and the way people dress is "very free". They also were surprised that most people do their own housework and many teen-agers have summer jobs.

"We like it here very much. It's a dream come true," they said. The girls came under the Youth for Understanding Program as Ambassadors of Goodwill to help bring a better understanding between nations.

It Happened in Pomona

By Doc Peirsol

Good old days overrated

One way or another our Pomona forefathers managed to get around in the early 1890s. And what's more, their transportation facilities weren't costing each of them hundreds of dollars every year for personal liability, property damage, fire, theft and medical reimbursement insurance. So it's little wonder we often enviously refer to that era as "the good old days."

Yet, when one gets right down to cases, just how good were the good old days? Actually, in the light of certain historical records, our early-day Pomonans would probably have been far better off financially had they been able to purchase insurance protection. For owning and driving a horse in the 1890s was often as hazardous as driving an automobile is today. To prove it let's take a look at some of the reports which appeared in the Pomona Weekly Times during a three or four week period in 1893.

"One of Lane McComas' livery animals ran away with a carriage last Sunday evening and was captured on Ellen Street near Mr. Jess' place after having broken the shafts."

"On the 8th a sorrel horse was stolen from J.S. Smith."

"An Ontario livery rig broke away from the driver at Chino last Saturday evening, ran up to Pomona, through Second Street and out to Ganesha Park where it was captured."

"A lively runaway occurred on Second Street Tuesday. A horse belonging to Silva Soto took fright and ran away. In front of the express office it collided with the express wagon and both horses came up the street on the run. They ran into the water fountain at the corner of Main and Second where the express horse was captured. The other horse broke loose from the buggy and ran down Second Street but was soon captured. He was slightly injured."

We could go on and on with similar hair-raising reports of runaways in and about Pomona. Some of them resulted in far more serious destruction, injuries and at times even death to the drivers of the vehicles or to pedestrians unfortunate enough to be in the path of the thundering hoofs and careening buggies and wagons.

Such disasters were the rule rather than the exception. But unfortunately, without insurance to underwrite the damage, few if any of the victims received multi-thousand dollar judgments. Also, sad to say, our early-day Pomona trial lawyers were denied the rewards of their counterparts today enjoy for securing such settlements. Which should conclusively prove our earlier contention that, although we are forever crying in our beer for their return, the good old days are vastly overrated.

Carla's hobbies are water skiing, swimming, needlepoint, and playing the piano. Her favorite subjects of the nine classes she took in Holland were French, English and history.

Her travels abroad include trips to England, France, Belgium, Italy, Switzerland, Germany, Spain, Austria and Denmark.

When questioned about windmills, tulips and wooden shoes, she replied, "Most of the windmills are tourist attractions. Many tourists, especially Americans, come to Holland during May when the tulips are in bloom. Although they're very beautiful, you get used to them and don't think anything about it."

As for wooden shoes, she never wears them and only a few farmers in the smaller communities might ever be seen in the traditional footwear, she said.

Her reason for visiting America was, "In Europe you hear many bad things about the United States (i.e. politics). I wanted to see if they were true or not. I've found most of them to be exagerations." When asked what was her first impression of America, she said, "Great!" She was surprised to see so many big cars and so few bicycles. The house were also different and not as uniform as those at home.

Carla already has traveled throughout the west coast and has been in Canada, San Francisco, Seattle and Sacramento. She also has been on vacation in Phoenix, Ariz. She participated in the Church of the Brethren's youth camp held in the mountains.

Her future plans include taking some secretarial courses and at 19 she hopes to become an airline stewardess. She has already completed her high school education in Holland and worked in a bakery for five years. Carla will return to her home land next Aug. 14 after her 13-month stay.

Two-bedroom luxury

By HIAWATHA ESTES

Besides having an unusually attractive exterior, this luxurious two-bedroom home has an equally imaginative interior design. Careful planning of this luxurious two-bedroom home has provided many features that are usually only found in much larger and more expensive homes.

The front door opens to a center hall entry which channels traffic to each area of the house. An entry closet and linen closet open to the hall.

All rooms are very generous in size for a two-bedroom home. The living and dining areas appear even larger since there is no separation between the two and due to the large sliding glass doors which open from the dining to the patio. Similar doors open from the master bedroom.

There is space for family meals in the roomy kitchen. Foot traffic has been directed away from the nook area by locating the dining door in the opposite corner.

Laundry facilities plus a broom closet are in the service. There is access from this room to both the kitchen and the bedroom hall. The family bath is located next to the service and there is a private bath and dressing area in the master bedroom suite. For privacy, the bedrooms do not share a common wall.

The garage roof extends over a roofed passageway which leads to the front entry of this contemporary, eye-catching exterior. The entry to this passageway is flanked by stone veneer columns. Vertical, wooden members have been placed on each side of the living room windows.

This same basic exterior plus another Spanish exterior is available in a three-and four-bedroom plan but at a different price structure. Contact us for further information.

Complete working drawings for plan 21005 can be purchased for only $11.61 for the first set and $6.36 for each additional set ordered at the same time. This plan will be available at these special prices until Jan. 9, 1974. Please allow two to three weeks for delivery. A specification booklet is available for $1.06. A large reproduction rendering of the exterior is $1.06. The following home plan books are also available: Distinctive Homes $1.33; Hallmark Homes — $1.33; Homes by Hiawatha—$1.33; Prize Homes—$1.33; Town & Country Homes—$1.33; Ranch & Modern Homes—$2.12. All six books—an $8.75 value for only $6.89. Orders for less than three books, please add an extra 20 cents per book for postage and handling. Prices include sales tax. Send all orders to: Hiawatha Estes, Box 404-PO, Northridge, Calif. 91324.

When, why, how to paint the house

By DOROTHEA M. BROOKS

NEW YORK (UPI) — What does a bank know about house painting?

You'd be surprised!

First National City Bank of New York, which publishes monthly a "Consumer Views" pamphlet to help its customers manage their finances, devotes an issue to "Home Painting—the Great American Hobby," and packs it full of tips for do-it-yourselfers.

Be they hobbyists who truly enjoy painting, or homeowners or apartment dwellers who've been forced to face the facts of the times, Americans now spend $3 billion a year as do-it-yourself painters.

Paint, says Citibank, is the homeowner's great preservative, the apartment dweller's room beautifier and a low-cost home-furnishing ally.

For just about every job you might want to tackle there is, today a special paint and know-how that will insure "professional" results and a long-lasting job worth the work and money you will invest, Citibank says.

There are two basic choices, whether for an interior or exterior job: latex (emulsion) paint or oil-base paint. Both come in flat and glossy finishes.

The latexes are thinned with water, easy to apply and you clean up afterwards with soap and water. They include paints with a rubber, vinyl, acrylic or polyvinyl chloride base; they don't drip when you paint a ceiling and can go on outside walls. They are especially recommended for masonry.

The latexes give an unstreaked, uniform appearance, stand up well under industrial fumes. They may be applied during damp weather and even to damp walls. They have little or no odor and dry quickly: as second coat may be applied in two hours.

Oil paints are solvent thinned and are recommended for kitchens, bathrooms, woodwork and places that get the hardest wear.

There are, too, a wide variety of special purpose paints—heat resistant spray paint for outdoor grills and radiators, another spray for wicker furniture, a special durable paint for a cement floor, a high-gloss deck enamel; paints for aluminum, iron even porcelain.

Deal with a reliable store; buy top quality paints; tell your dealer what you plan to cover and take his advice, Citibank recommends. Never economize on the paint except to buy quality materials on legitimate sale. There's no point in wasting your investment of time and money on a botched job because of a poor product.

Paint is cheaper by the gallon—and it's wise to buy that way, also, since if you run out of paint, you cannot always be sure to get a perfect color match with the next batch, Citibank says. To get the right amount, tell your dealer the squar footage and kind of surface you plan to cover, and let him tell you how much to get.

No matter what paint you buy, read and follow the instructions—to the letter. Nine times out of 10, Citibanks says, it has been found when a householder complains about a paint, he or she has done something wrong—added oil-paint solvent to a water-base or water to an oil-base, or used the wrong primer or wrong brush or roller.

When to paint? Indoors, just about any time. Outdoors, Citibank says, the fall—before the rains—is the best time.

Don't paint in the summer sun. Sun causes paint to wrinkle and blister. Even if you work early in the morning, the hot sun later may cause blisters. In fact, don't work when its either too hot or too cold—above 90 degrees, or below 40.

Try to paint in dry weathe although latex paints may b ussed in damp weather.

You've probably heard before, but Citibank emph sizes: "Spend at least much time preparing the su face as painting, if not mor The painting itself usually satisfying while the cleanin sanding, plastering and putt ing are plain grubby. B good results depend on car ful preparation of the su face."

From the experts, Citiban offers the following procedur for outdoor painting:

—Cover shrubs, walks, ter races with drop cloths.

—Usually it isn't necessar to wash outside walls. Jus brush off the dirt.

If house is in deep shade and subject to mildew, us paint with antimildew addi tive. To remove mildew be fore painting, scrub with a so lution of 2-3rd cup of trisodium phosphate, 1-3rd cup deter gent, one quart household bleach, three quarts warm water. Repeat scrubbings a needed. Wear rubber gloves Do not paint over mildew which grows in fresh paint.

Zero in on zoning before remodeling

Many a homeowner's dream of an additional room, swimming pool, or other major home improvement can be shattered if detailed plans are made in advance of checking local zoning regulations.

Alcan Aluminum Corporation, manufacturer of a number of home improvement products, suggests consulting local officials or obtaining a copy of the local zoning rules and building codes from your municipality before any remodelling plans are made.

Some commodities, for example, will not permit the addition of another story on a ranch home or the addition of any units that could conceivabley turn a one-family dwelling into a two-family home. Some zoning rules require a minimum of space left clear on all sides of a house to the property lines; other rules may also limit how closely you may build to the street.

If your plans do not meet the zoning regulations, you can appeal to the local zoning board for a "variance." If you must appear at a hearing it would be wise to gain the support of some neighbors or learn in advance what opposition would be offered to your plans.

Once your plans have been approved, you must obtain a building permit. This requires filing an application, accompanied by a construction plan, in the municipal offices. Your contractor will normally handle this for you unless you will be doing the work yourself, then YOU must file. Remember, Alcan adds, not all improvements will require a permit, but it is wise to check so you have one in case the local regulations demand it.

Power drill a versatile must

By MR. FIX

One power tool almost every homeowner usually acquires is a portable electric drill. He may never buy another power tool, even desire one, but the electric drill is just about a must.

It is versatile, inexpensive and easy to use. Purchased originally to make hole drilling easier and faster, its use is soon extended to other areas.

Accessories for the drill are many and varied. They have become increasingly wideranging, useful and versatile. With accessories, a drill can be used to grind, sand, saw, trim the hedges, power a pump.

If a wire brush and a sanding disc are all you have for your drill, you're not getting everything out of the tool.

The portable drill itself has become better in recent years. The one-fourth-inch drill has been the most common but manufacturers have brought out larger three-eight-inch drills within everyone's price range.

Variable speed drills are quite common now so that it is easy to use your drill for such chores as driving screws with appropraite bits.

Some portable drills are sold in elaborate kit forms with a number of accessories supplied. Should you buy it this way? Look over the accessories and see how many will be useful. A saw blade attachment is O.K. for occasional use but if you plan to do a lot of wood cutting, maybe a separate electric saw would be in order.

If you can use most of the attachments, go ahead. Otherwise buy the drill separately, getting the best you can afford and add accessories as you need them.

What's available? Grinding wheels so that you can sharpen your own tools; rubber pads on which to mount sanding discs; wire brushes that make rust and paint removal a breeze; a stand that turns the drill into a drill presss for accurate holes; screwdriver bits and attachments for turning nuts and bolts.

You can get a special attachment that reduces the speed while increasing the power of your drill. It is a gear-reduction device that mounts in the chuck of your drill. Gripping the unit at front or back determines the direction the drill turns so that you can drive screws or remove them. Running at slower speeds, the power of the drill is increased up to seven times.

For getting into tight corners you can get a right angle chuck extension. For really heavy duty sanding there is a hardened steel disc rasp or a drumlike rotary rasp.

Be careful when you use these accessories. It is easy to overwork the drill. If you seem to be getting nowhere, the cutting tools aren't cutting — stop. The edges may be dull and the unit may need oiling.

If the drill strains and starts turning slowly or it twists in your hand, slow down. You're applying more pressure than the drill can handle.

If the drill gets hot, it doesn't have the power to handle the job and you are burning out the motor. Don't ever push your drill this far.

Use common sense and your portable drill will do many things for you for a great many years.

canvas or plastic drop cloths before you start the job.

—Glue a paper plate to the bottom of paint cans to control the drips.

—Use enough paint. Dip your brush halfway, tap it on the side of the can, then apply. Dip the brush again before it resists your sweeping motion. Paint from the dry surface into the wet surface.

Don't saturate a roller with paint. Give it a comfortable dip. Too much paint will splatter as you work.

—Clean spots from clothes and surfaces before they dry.

—To make a scaffold for painting outside, lean two ladders again the house, attach a jack (you can rent these) to each ladder. Fit planks across from jack to jack. Instant scaffold; quicker, easier painting. But do use care!

—Inspect the entire house. Nail down any loose boards. Remove loose or scaling paint by scraping or wirebrushing. check caulking and putty: Replace as needed.

—Start painting at the top of the houss. Paint trim and shutters last. You will need a standard rung-type ladder to paint the high areas. Use it with every safety precaution.

—If you are applying two coats of an oil-base paint, wait three days for the first to dry thoroughly.

In addition, Citibank suggests the following painting tips:

—Mix all the paint you will need at one time.

—Be sure you have enough

Did Taffy find new con game?

TIVERTON, England (UPI) — Quickly the rumor spread that Taffy O'Sullivan was dead. They were even collecting for his funeral wreath in his favorite pub when he walked in.

After the shock wore off, everybody patted him on the back and started to buy him drinks. "I normally take beer. But because of where I was supposed to have gone, I turned to spirits for the night," he said.

No one would say how the rumor of his death got started.
